City Must Seek Factories To Get Them Is View Of Local Boosters

Subscribing approximately $10,000, thirty-five business men of the city who met late yesterday afternoon at the city council's chambers launched a movement for the organization here of the Santa Ana Industrial Land company, with capitalization of $250,000, for the purpose of buying acreage near the city to hold for industrial sites.

As tentatively outlined, the company, when organized, will resell lands to industrial concerns at cost, plus carrying charges.

Shares of $100 par value have been grouped into units of five each, with one unit the minimum for which any one may subscribe. Payments are to be made in five equal allotments over a period of two and a half years.

The movement was initiated by the industrial department of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, the organizing committee, being composed of J. P. Baumgartner, editor of The Register; O. H. Barr, president of the Barr Lumber company; George Dunton, Ford and Lincoln dealer, and A. N. Zerman, feed and fuel merchant. The latter presided at the meeting.

H. M. Miller, industrial secretary, disclosed that he had obtained until next October, options on three pieces of property splendidly located for industrial, and that other lands probably could be secured.

Options Land Told

The options pieces include 16 acres along the Southern Pacific tracks, and north of Delhi road, owned by Robert Reid, and the location of the new glass factory; 40 acres south of Delhi road, with a frontage of 2250 feet on Newport road, belonging to A. F. Walker, and 29 acres adjoining, owned by F. C. Matthews.

Discussing the proposed organization of the land holding company, A. B. Roussele and others declared that if Santa Ana is to maintain its population growth, employment must be provided for men who want to locate here.

"We can not catch birds by whistling at them and we cannot get factories unless we go after them," Roussele declared. "We have in Santa Ana conditions that are ideal for manufacturing enterprises. We have cheap lands, lands located where industrials will not be crowded out by development of residential sections. It is time we were establishing an industrial section and it is time some organization was being created for the purchase of lands and making them available to manufacturers at prices they can pay."

Kick By Mule Is Cause Of Two Deaths

STOCKTON, June 10.—A double tragedy followed the kick of a horse on a ranch at Waterloo early today when Mrs. Patrick Lyons succumbed to shock at finding the body of her husband in the corral.

Lyons had been dead several hours, having been kicked just below the heart. Mrs. Lyons collapsed and failed to rally to medical treatment.

Lyons had lived on the ranch for thirty years and was popular among the farmers.

Formulas for Making High Explosives Taken by Police as Evidence In Haul.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Dr. Osuma Terada, Japanese physician and explosives expert, was out on $1500 bond today after members of his apartment raid found several formulas and diagrams for manufacture of high explosives. They also found a pistol and ammunition. The raid followed an anonymous letter that many Japanese congregated at the apartment at night.

FAMOUS AUTHOR ENDS LIFE AT MORGUE DOOR

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—Unable to face longer the prospect of gradually weakening powers due to ill health, Peter Clarke Macfarlane, writer and lecturer, killed himself here last night.

He walked to the door of the San Francisco morgue, hung his cane nonchalantly over his arm, took a pistol from his pocket and shot himself through the temple, dying within a few minutes.

"I tried to delude myself with the idea that the old power was still holding out," he wrote in one of several notes he left, "but it wasn't."

"It had been slipping for a year. Nothing remains but to dynamite the ruins."

The notes were written Sunday at Macfarlane's home at Carmel. For ten years he had been in ill health.

Macfarlane's main letter was left addressed to Dr. Rufus Rigdon, his physician. He reviewed his long struggle against disease, saying that treatments had worked "wonderfully as far as my body is concerned but the mentality would not come back."

"To a man of my calling that makes me a physical bankrupt."

Plan To Drive La Follette Out Of Party Seek As Fight Signal

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 10.—A party "loyalty pledge" designed to read La Follette and his cohorts out of the G. O. P. may cause the blast that tilts the tight-roped roof of the Cleveland convention.

Following the precedent set by Roscoe Conkling in the "Mugwump" days at the Chicago convention in 1880, a group of red hot Coolidge supporters has prepared a resolution pledging every delegate to support the Republican nominee—Calvin Coolidge.

The introduction of that resolution is the signal for the only real fight that may take place on the floor of the otherwise placid ratification meeting here. Cooler heads, sensing the explosive power lying

PLAY RITES FOR DEAD IN WRECK

Coroner's Jury Absolves Pilot of Boat From Accident Blame

With the Newport Beach boat wreck, which cost the lives of eight Santa Anans, officially designated as an accident with no blame attached, and movements against future tragedies of the sort, the bereaved today sadly prepared to bury their dead.

At the same time search was maintained for the four unrecovered bodies of Sunday's disaster in the harbor mouth, where the launch Adieu capsized under the onslaught of mountainous ground swells and eight of its thirteen occupants perished.

The bodies of Dr. J. G. Kelly, E. H. Granger, and the two Thornton boys, Allan and David, have not been found.

The first of the funerals was scheduled to be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in Winbiger's Mission Funeral home, where services are planned for F. L. McCune, head of the McCune Furniture company, Silver Cord lodge, No. 505, F. and A. M. is in charge of the rites.

Thornton Funeral Thursday.

The funeral of H. Newton Thornton, architect, was set for the day at 2 p. m. in the Smith and Tutill funeral chapel.

Services have not yet been arranged for Chris J. Enna, tailor, and his assistant, Fred Pleitner.

Guy Perkins, pilot of the wrecked craft, was absolved from responsibility for the accident, when a coroner's jury completed its probe of the affair late yesterday. Acting Coroner A. E. Koepsel conducted the inquest at the Smith and Tutill chapel.

The jury, in its verdict, recommended that all vessels transporting passengers carry liability insurance.

The four witnesses who testified yesterday threw but little light on the tragedy. They were Val Miller and his brother, Thomas Miller, Sierra Madre youths who, with a third brother, Walter, rescued three of the five survivors, they said.

Three Heroes Testify

The three Miller boys were alone on the beach, they said, and no other help came for half an hour. Perkins, the pilot, and B. W. Baker, one of the other survivors, swam ashore, the witnesses said, while the Miller brothers waded and swam out to rescue others. They brought in three survivors and one of the dead, they said, while three other bodies floated in down the beach below Corona Del Mar. Val Miller expressed the belief that these victims may have managed to swim ashore there but could make no landing among the rocks and were beaten to death against the rocks by the pounding sea.

The scene aboard the launch when its motor stopped, leaving the boat and its party helpless before the huge waves was described by L. J. Bean, the only one of the survivors to appear at the inquest.

Tragedy Near, Few Words Spoken.

Not a word was spoken when the crisis was realized, Bean said, except for one brief remark by E. H. Granger, one of the victims, who said: "Men, we're in a hell of a fix."

Bean said he came ashore with a life preserver. He discarded his overcoat and top coat when catapulted into the water from the launch and was making his way shoreward when he saw Thornton. He started for Thornton, he said, and encountered E. M. Sundquist who was calling for aid. Thinking he might not be able to reach Thornton, he helped Sundquist ashore, he said.

Robert E. Dixon, veteran fisherman of Laguna Beach, who said he was familiar with conditions at the harbor having been twenty-seven years in local waters, pictured the harbor entrance as a pitfall for the unsuspecting seaman. The sharp slope of the ocean bed there is responsible, he said, for deceptive ground swells, which appear suddenly and without warning. Narrow escapes are frequent, he said.

Dixon expressed the opinion that Perkins' boat was in good shape and that Perkins was a capable

BATTLE OVER FEDERATION PRESIDENT

Three Candidate In Field For Head of Women's Organization

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, June 10.—Mrs. W. S. Jennings, of Jacksonville, Florida, was eliminated today as a favored candidate for the presidency of the general federation of women's clubs in the report of the nominating committee.

Rules of the federation permit only two candidates to be placed in the field by the committee. Mrs. J. D. Sherman, of Kites Park, Colo., and Mrs. Wallace T. Perham, of Glendive, Mont., were reported favorably by the committee.

Immediately after the report, a member of the Florida delegation, acting under authority of the federation rules, nominated Mrs. Jennings from the floor, so he will appear as a candidate on the ballot to be voted on tomorrow.

Score Pacifists

Declaring that while the women of America want peace they condemn the activities of certain persons who are breeding disloyalty to the nation under the guise of its pursuit, one of the most spirited resolutions yet introduced in the biennial convention of the general federation of women's clubs was presented today by the upper Mississippi valley conference, comprising delegates from twelve mid-western states.

The resolution sets forth that while all women want world peace, "platform speakers whose utterances tend toward pacifism and disloyalty rather than peace," are to be discredited.

Other resolutions presented to the convention today:

Fight Child Labor

Approves the child labor amendment and urges both political parties to include its sentiment in their platforms.

Favors the bill for civil service classification of all agents and employees of the prohibition-enforcement bureau as well as first, second and third class postmasters.

Urges continuance of the United States Public Health Service department, with a permanent appropriation for its work.

Announce Boost In Sugar Price

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—Sugar will be advanced 25 cents per hundred pounds in price here tomorrow, refiners announced today. New basis prices will be for cane $7.05 and for beet $6.85.

It marks the first upward trend in the price since the market hit almost rock bottom prices last week.

Physicians Urge Rum Rule Changes

CHICAGO, June 10.—A resolution urging the internal revenue department and the prohibition division to liberalize the rules on the distribution of alcohol and "medical alcoholic liquor," to physicians was before the house of delegates of the American Medical association convention here today.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Lieutenant Harold D. Hall, Crockett, Texas, and Corporal Ralph W. Lehman, Madam, N. C., were killed instantly today when their airplane crashed to the ground at Garrettsville, Va., the navy department was informed today.

The bodies of both were consumed by flames that destroyed the plane.

INSANITY PLEA BY RICH BOYS UNDER FIRE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, June 10.—Determined that insanity shall not be used as a gateway from the gallows, Robert E. Crowe, State's attorney, today questioned a chain of evidence designed to prove the sanity of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, college graduates and sons of wealthy families, who confessed to kidnapping and killing Robert Franks, 14-year-old school boy.

Crowe questioned many university students, classmates of the prisoners. He said he intended to show that the youths are absolutely sane; that they knew the difference between right and wrong; fully realized the penalty for the crime, and committed it after long deliberation and careful planning.

Tomorrow Leopold and Loeb will appear for arraignment on charges of kidnapping and murder. They will plead not guilty.

SEIZE SUSPECT IN SEATTLE BANK RAID

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SEATTLE, Wash., June 10.—One of the four bandits who yesterday noon held up two Fredrick and Nelson department store messengers in front of the Seattle National bank, robbing them of $3800 in cash and $6000 in checks, police today were holding William McCarthy, 35, an ex-convict from San Quentin penitentiary. The checks were later recovered.

McCarthy's arrest came at 3 p. m. just about the time three masked bandits staged a spectacular climax to the department store holdup by attempting to rob Walter Cooper, Union Oil company cashier of $13,000, which Cooper was taking in an automobile to the bank.

Lone Bandit in Spectacular Raid

HOLLYWOOD, June 10.—Answering the door bell, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Sykes, of Iris Drive, and their guests, Miss Ruth Ray and J. C. Zerdler, were robbed of jewelry and cash amounting to more than $5,000, according to a police report today. A lone bandit, unmasked, committed the crime, it was stated.

Sister of Former President Passes

Coolidge Calm As G. O. P. Opens Parley

WASHINGTON, June 10.—A placid calm broods over the White House. With all the tumult and the shouting in Cleveland, Calvin Coolidge is carrying on as usual, or perhaps slightly less than usual. Bad weather kept handshakers from the capitol and the White House engagement list is small.

Mr. Coolidge, however, is putting in his accustomed hours at his desk. A direct wire from the platform at Cleveland brings to the White House the full United Press report of the entire proceedings. If Mr. Coolidge chooses to listen, he has the powerful radio receiving set constructed especially by the navy yard here for White House use.

OPEN FIGHT ON KLAN IN CONVENTION

Former College President Urges Resolutions Committee to Hit Secret Orders.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 10.—Delegation besieged the resolutions committee of the Republican National convention today denouncing the Ku Klux Klan and demanding a plank in the Republican platform opposing secret orders.

Shortly after the first session of the committee opened, Charles F. Thwing, former president of the Western Reserve University began an attack on the Klan and asked that the Republicans openly declare for "government by law."

BEAUTY FIGHTS FOR RELEASE IN SLAYING

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, June 10.—Still held in jail while authorities pressed a further investigation of her story, Mrs. Anna May Ennis, young waitress companion of Morris V. Grooms, fatally injured by two bullet wounds Sunday night, today started attempts to secure her release.

Attorney S. S. Hahn, prominent criminal lawyer, was retained by the woman to gain her release, if possible, on a writ of habeas corpus.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Harry Wright at the same time called on District Attorney Asa Keyes and turned over to him all the evidence in the case thus far secured.

The murder was not the result of a clumsily executed plan of robbery, committed by holdup men who surprised Grooms and Mrs. Ennis in a parked machine near Culver City, according to Chief Deputy District Attorney Byron Pitts.

The dead man is said to be the son of wealthy New Jersey parents. He was for a time employed as elevator operator in the Elitmore hotel, later opening a restaurant with Mrs. Ennis' husband, William Ennis, only to separate some weeks later after a disagreement.

Daugherty Loses Convention Fight

CLEVELAND, O., June 10.—Former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty has passed as an important factor in the Ohio Republican organization.

His candidate for national committeeman, Louis F. Brush, publisher of the late President Harding's Marion Star, was defeated by Maurice Maschke, Cuyahoga county leader, when the state delegation organized last night.

The vote was 27 to 24.

Japs Brand Coolidge As Coward For Signing Exclusion Measure

TOKIO, June 10.—Hand bills denouncing "Pontius Pilate and Calvin Coolidge" as "the world's two greatest cowards," were distributed in the streets today by a "Christian Laborers' association" parade.

The demonstrators demanded that missionaries from the United States become naturalized Japanese or quit Japan. The "Great Forward Society" distributed 50,000 handbills about the city, demanding a boycott of American goods.

The new cabinet will be installed tomorrow. It is composed of Kata, premier; Shidehara, foreign affairs; Wakatsuki, home; Takarashi, navy; Ugaki, war; Takahashi, agriculture; same commerce; Inukai, communications; Yokota, justice; Hamaguchi, finance; Sengoku, railroads; Okada, education.

BURTON IN PLEA FOR SUPPORT

Convention Roars Approval As President Coolidge Praised By Speaker

VICE PRESIDENT IS BIG PARTY PROBLEM

La Follette Supporters Plan For Bitter Attack on Party Platform

(By United Press Leased Wire)

CONVENTION HALL, Cleveland, O., June 10.—Calmly and with solemn mien, the Republican National convention met for its first session here today, heard the keynote address of temporary Chairman Theodore E. Burton, appointed committees and adjourned at 1:40 p. m., until 10:30 Wednesday morning.

As the delegates filed out of the big convention hall, nothing was in doubt as to succeeding sessions except the nomination of a candidate for vice-president to make the race in November with President Coolidge.

Frank O. Lowden, the convention favorite, was virtually eliminated as a possibility for second place on the ticket when it became known he was adamant in his refusal to accept the nomination.

Halt Hoover Boom

The stock of Herbert Hoover immediately took a boom until intimation was passed out that the selection of Hoover might be an unnecessary affront to Hiram Johnson of California. Johnson is taking no part in this year's convention and will not be placed in nomination, but some of the Coolidge advisers are loath to antagonize him to the extent of placing Hoover on the ticket and thus possibly bring on a repetition of the 1919 split in California. Hence, the vice presidency race is now an open one.

Wisconsin tomorrow will return a minority platform report, standing for everything the Coolidge faction in the party opposes. This will be promptly flattened out and rejected, and the convention will then proceed to the adoption of the platform desired by President Coolidge. With this out of the way, Thursday will be the president's day. His will be the only name placed in nomination. A formal vote will confirm him as the party's leader, and the nominations and balloting for vice president will then follow.

Adams Opens Parley

The convention opened at 11:03 o'clock when Chairman John T. Adams of the national committee slammed down his gavel calling to order the 1100-odd delegates, their alternates and some 13,000 guests who came to witness the event.

The citizens band formed immediately before the rostrum. Under the leadership of the noted bandmaster, John Philip Sousa, the bandmaster, John Philip Sousa, the taurant Mrs. Ennis' husband, William Ennis, only to separate some weeks later after a disagreement.

Bishop William F. Anderson of the Methodist Episcopal church, Cincinnati, Ohio, was introduced by Adams to deliver the opening prayer.

At this time the gallery was still half vacant.

Bishop Anderson prayed that in its deliberations the convention would adhere to the "deep sense of our destiny and obligations."

"Moral courage, definite and aggressive leadership," he declared, "must be the part of this government."

Pure In Heart

"May these delegates be men of clean hands and pure hearts," he asked, "to carry on the obligations before them."

Following the prayer, the band played "America," the convention members joining in the singing. Official photographs of the convention were taken as usual, supplemented by motion pictures of the principals.

George B. Lockwood, secretary of the national committee, then read the official convention call. The first order of business followed in the election of Representative Burton as temporary chairman of the convention. Loud cheering and applause greeted the selection.

Chairman Adams announced Senator Peter B. Norbeck of North Dakota, A. P. Roberts of Michigan—both outspoken Progressives—and Mrs. Anne E. Car-

CHAMPION GLEE CLUB SINGERS ON KFAW

KFAW offered listeners in another fine program last night when the girls' and boys' glee clubs of Huntington Beach, under the direction of Miss Ruth Meyer, broadcast from The Register studio.

The concert afforded an opportunity to many to hear for the first time the girls' glee club which won the singing competition between Orange county school glee clubs at Fullerton last April. The group scored heavily and the selections offered were chosen by Miss Meyer to show that the young singers were just as capable of singing the most complicated compositions as well as those of lighter vein.

Several delightful solos were contributed to the program by David Russell, tenor; Betty Onson and Eber Flaws, pianists; Edna Hearn, soprano; and Virgil Elliott, basso.

Miss Meyer was assisted in the successful presentation of the concert by the good work of Miss Esther Soule who was the accompanist of the evening.

The Huntington Beach program included these numbers: (a) "Bowl of Roses", (b) "Ma Little Banjo", girls' glee club; tenor solo, "The Banjo Song" (Homer), David Russell, Miss Soule at the piano; (a) "Hangin' Out the Clothes", (b) "In Jungle Land", boys' glee club; piano solo, "Second Mazurka", (Sibelius), Betty Onson; soprano solo, "The Star" (Rogers), (b) "Will o' the Wisp" (Spross), Edna Hearn, Miss Soule at the piano; "Recessional" (De Koven), girls' glee club; bass solo, "A Son of the Desert" (Am P), Virgil Elliott, Miss Soule at the piano; "Song of the Jolly Roger", boys' glee club; Finale, (a) "Reveries", (b) "The Bridal Chorus" from "The Rose Maiden" (Coven), girls' glee club.

Next Thursday night's KFAW concert program will be offered by Grigsby's Club Orchestra.

Deed to Masons' Land Not Forged Court Here Holds

The Yorba Linda Masonic lodge had no worries confronting it today with reference to title to its home-site, Superior Judge Z. B. West having decided in favor of the lodge at the trial yesterday of a suit brought by Mrs. Nellie Baile, who charged that the deed to the property was forged.

The lodge bought the property in June, 1923, from Jackson Mays, who claimed to have acquired deed and title a few days previously from Mrs. Baile.

In the present action Mrs. Baile denied she had signed the deed and charged it was a forgery. Evidence offered at the trial tended to show, however, that the deed had actually been signed by her.

Attorneys Head, Rutan and Sevel, Santa Ana, represented the lodge in the case.

Select Jurors to Try Pair Held in 'Love Nest' Raid

Selection of a jury to sit at the trial of G. E. Brookins and Mrs. Addie Wiley, Anaheim couple charged with a statutory offense, was being made by attorneys for prosecution an defense today in Superior Judge F. C. Drumm's court.

The case, delayed since Monday, was taken up today by Judge Drumm immediately upon completion of the Whitted trial, which has occupied the court five days.

The defendants were accused in connection with a raid upon an asserted "love nest" at Newport Beach.

DR. WHITTED IS FOUND GUILTY BY JURORS

Dr. R. E. Whitted, local dentist, was today found guilty by a jury of a statutory offense against a 17-year-old Santa Ana girl, the verdict being returned after one hour and three minutes of deliberations. Dr. Whitted was immediately lodged in the county jail.

Superior Judge F. C. Drumm, upon receipt of the verdict, fixed Friday at 9:30 a. m. as the time for pronouncing sentence. The penalty provided by law for the offense alleged, is from one to fifteen years in state's prison, it was said.

That a motion for a new trial will be made by the defense was announced today by Attorney Clyde Bishop, of Dr. Whitted's counsel. Whether the case would be appealed if the new trial was denied, had not yet been decided, according to Bishop. The new trial motion will be made Friday before judgment is pronounced.

Unmoved by Verdict.

Dr. Whitted received the verdict stolidly.

At the request of the defense attorneys, the jury was polled on its verdict and each affirmed his vote in its favor. The time for passing sentence was set and the court ordered the defendant, who has been at liberty under $10,000 bail, to be remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

Argument having been completed as court adjourned late yesterday, Judge Drumm began delivering his instructions to the jury when court opened today. The instructions were completed and the jury retired at 10:22 a. m. At 11:25 a. m. it brought in the verdict of guilty.

Closing argument in the case was delivered yesterday afternoon

Sentence Husband On Wife's Charge

Luis Fimbres, 35, of Fullerton, today had started serving a 90-day sentence for beating his wife, according to Deputy Sheriff Ed McClellan, who brought the prisoner to Santa Ana after sentence was passed by Judge William French of the neighboring city. Fimbres is carrying "battle scars" from his combat with his spouse, it was said, she having defended herself with a knife. The man was arrested by the Fullerton police.

by defense and prosecution, the two addresses to the jury occupying the entire afternoon.

Reasonable Doubt Stressed

Attorney Lecompte Davis, following his associate, Clyde Bishop, who completed his address at noon, spoke for the defense and voted much of his argument to driving home the theory of presumed innocence and the doctrine of reasonable doubt.

In pointing out what he declared might inspire doubt of guilt, the attorney declared the first task for a juror to give any charge was to place himself mentally in the position of the accused and ask himself the question: "Would I or any reasonable honest man have done this thing?"

Davis reviewed the testimony, particularly that of the defendant himself, to show details that he characterized as showing improbability of guilt.

In a forceful address, closing for the state, District Attorney A. P. Nelson demanded a verdict of guilty, declaring that the prosecution had clearly proved its case against the dentist.

Dentist's Story Attacked

Asserting that the defendant had, by his testimony, gone far to convict himself, Nelson attacked Dr. Whitted's story of the charge against him.

"It is usually little shreds of evidence in any case that point the way, unmistakably, toward guilt or innocence," said Nelson.

"In this case," he added impressively, "the little shreds point clearly to the defendant's guilt. They are the little shreds of evidence in his own testimony that betray him."

CUTTING DOWN THE OVERHEAD

is a fundamental of business today. The big problem in buying and selling goods is the cost of handling, from the maker to the storekeeper. By buying direct from manufacturers, in large quantities and for many stores, we eliminate much expense in placing our goods before the public. This makes the selling price lower, for the same grade of goods.

Another costly expense is the charge account. By selling for cash, we cut down the expense of bookkeepers. By selling for cash, we do not have to add an extra profit to take care of money lost by bad credit. By selling for cash, we can pay cash for our goods—this gives us extra discounts and enables us to sell for less. Delivery systems cost the customer. Delivery trucks and drivers must be paid with your money, whether you have your goods delivered or not. We reduce our prices by omitting a delivery system.

We, then, strive to reduce our selling prices; we can, because (1) we buy direct from the manufacturer in large quantities; (2) we buy for cash and sell for cash; and (3) we eliminate expensive delivery systems and other unnecessary overhead expense. Watch Thursday's paper for our announcement.

SEWER LINE BETWEEN P. E. TRACKS IS PROTESTED IN LETTER TO CITY COUNCIL

Whether the main sewer line proposed to be installed on Fourth street, between French and Ross streets, will be placed between the tracks of the Pacific Electric railway company or to one side of the street, was under consideration today by the city council, following receipt by the council last night of a communication from E. C. Johnson, chief engineer of the company, mildly protesting plans for putting the line between the tracks.

The company probably would not be able to maintain its service during the period of the installation, Johnson said and he further expressed the belief that the city would best serve the interests of all by putting the line to one side of the street.

Favors Sewer Between Tracks. W. G. Knox, city engineer, said the plan for locating the line between the tracks was feasible and that it should by all means be placed there. He declared that if the new sewer was to be placed on the side it would be necessary either to run connections across the street from the opposite side or to continue to serve the south side of the street by a line now in the alley running east and west between French and Ross streets.

Knox said the latter line now is crowded nearly to capacity and that later installation of a large pipe line would be necessary if decision were made to continue service to the south side of the street by the alley line.

Bids for the work were opened a week ago and awarding of the contract was continued to next Monday evening, when it was expected the council would make a definite decision on the point brought up by the railway company.

Create Assessment District. Plans for creation of an assessment district for the installation of main line sewers in the southeast part of the city were continued by adoption of resolution overruling protests and directing preparation of plans and specifications for the lines.

The new installations are to be on Lyon, Chestnut, McClay and McFadden streets, with an assessment district covering considerable territory to be organized to pay the costs. F. C. Rowland, representing property owners on McClay street, urged the council to defer action until a later date, if possible.

Emphasizing that the owners were not protesting against the proposed improvement, the speaker said they were requesting that action be deferred because of the fact that they were now paying heavy taxes and the further fact that conditions pointed to a light walnut crop.

It developed that the legal steps had proceeded to a point where delay would involve the loss of money already expended in preparation for the work. It was pointed out that it probably would be five or six months before payment on the work would become due. Knox estimates the cost to property owners abutting the streets would be about 30 cents per running foot.

The boundary of the district starts at the corner of Fourth and Santa Fe tracks and runs east on Fourth to Mabury, south on Mabury to First, west on First to Lyon, south on Lyon to McFadden, west on McFadden to Halladay, north on Halladay to Chestnut, west on Chestnut to the Santa Fe tracks, north along the tracks and Santa Fe street to Fourth street.

Adopt Paving Plans. Plans and specifications were adopted for paving Santa Clara avenue, Bush to Lincoln street, and on Santiago street, from Santa Clara avenue north to the city limits.

Protest by property owners against maintenance of a truck yard on Southern Pacific property at the corner of Second and Lacy streets was referred to the city attorney. The latter will discuss with the property owner elimination of the condition complained of, and, failing on a settlement will take up with the district attorney the matter of having the place abated on the ground that it is a nuisance.

According to some of the protesters renting properties they have been made useless by reason of dust from the yard floating into their buildings and whenever a truck drives into the grounds.

Bids for paving Roe drive, opened a week ago, were rejected and the clerk was directed to readvertise for bids.

Opening of Louise street, from Hickey to Seventeenth, was assured with the filing by owners of grant deeds to property needed for the street.

Application of Henry Mellors for permission to operate a lunch stand on a vacant lot in the 700 block on East Fourth street was referred to the city commissioner.

Councilman Nat Neff was appointed a committee to investigate the application of Romo Brothers for permission to establish a repair garage in the 1300 block on South Main street.

Numerous Fines Increase City's Bankroll By $373

Santa Ana was $373 richer today as the result of fines levied by City Recorder W. F. Heathman.

The largest "donation" to the city treasury was made by John Lopez who sent $300 from the county jail for the balance of his fine for the illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. Lopez was placed behind the bars June 2 when he announced his intention to "work out" the sentence rather than pay the fine.

Ygnacio Arebalo, after serving five days in jail for being drunk, was released today on payment to Heathman of $10 due on his fine.

A. Gurula, arrested early yesterday with a loaded revolver, and a number of rings and watches in his possession, was released upon payment of a $50 fine for carrying a concealed weapon.

Traffic violators booked today in the city recorder's court consisted of A. M. Van Mack of Long Beach, $15 fine for speeding; Albert Hacklander, $10 for driving without a muffler; R. B. Combs, $2 for parking overtime in the two-hour zone; Mrs. M. E. Addis, $2 for parking her car downtown between 2 and 5 a. m.; and W. V. Peeling, W. Lee Mills, William R. Williams and J. C. Robertson, $2 for parking in the restricted district.

Mrs. Grace Amick, Spokane's only policewoman, recently led the entire police force in target practice, scoring 47 points out of a possible 50.

SEE CONCEALED WEAPON LAW TEST HERE

Precedent that would determine the local status of a recently enacted law, classifying as a felony the offense of carrying concealed weapons, or possession by certain persons of firearms capable of concealment on the person, was expected today at the trial of Jesus Jiminez, Yorba Mexican, in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court.

Jiminez is charged with possessing a pistol, in violation of the statute that forbids aliens or previously convicted felons from such ownership or possession.

Inasmuch as the law, passed by the last legislature, has been declared unconstitutional by the superior court of a northern county, the attitude of Judge Williams regarding it was closely watched.

Should he agree with the northern court the prosecution of such cases in Orange county would be discontinued, it was known.

The law was ruled out by the northern judge on the grounds that it discriminated. In the case of American citizens the same offense is held as merely a misdemeanor.

Jiminez was today facing his second jury. He was tried and acquitted some weeks ago on a charge of burglary, connected with the looting of the Holland service station at Richfield.

Attorney James L. Allen defended Jiminez today, with Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin appearing for the state.

Relieve Husband Of More Payments To Wife, Children

Charles G. Forsythe of Huntington Beach today relieved of the necessity for contributing to the support of his wife, Lucinda A. Forsythe, following a decision by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams who denied the wife's suit for separate maintenance.

Judge Williams decided the case late yesterday in favor of Forsythe after Mrs. Forsythe, on the witness stand, told him she would not live with her husband.

Forsythe, in denying his wife's charge of desertion, had offered to provide a home for her and their minor children, although his offer did not include three adult "children," who he claimed, had been insulting to him and had threatened to "throw him out of the house."

This threat, he said, caused him to leave home.

Attorney O. A. Jacobs appeared for Forsythe at the trial, Attorney Gerald Myers, of Downey, representing Mrs. Forsythe.

Church Services In Park Not to Be Held This Yr.

The plan of holding church services in the city parks of Santa Ana during August, as was done last year, will not be tried again this year, according to plans made today at the monthly meeting of the Santa Ana Ministerial association which convened at the First Congregational church at 11 a. m.

It was reported that the ministers had agreed to keep two of the city churches open each Sunday of the five Sundays in the month, for worship, different churches to be open each Sunday.

Many Arrests Made During May at Orange

ORANGE, June 10.—Seventy-seven arrests were made in May by the police force of Orange, according to a report submitted to the city trustees this afternoon by City Marshal J. E. Jemison. He listed the arrests as follows: 42 speeders, six violations parking ordinance, 7 gamblers, 11 infractions of motor vehicle laws, 5 intoxication, 3 possession liquor, 1 driving under influence of liquor, 1 for transporting liquor, 1 misdemeanor; total fines $1044.

'ZEKE KIDS' TO HAVE PICNIC AT CO. PARK

Scores of Orange county men and women who attended the schools at Tustin during the twenty-five years J. J. Zellman, of this city, was principal, today were making preparations for attending the third annual reunion of "Zeke Kids", following receipt today of invitations announcing that the annual event would be held next Saturday at Orange county park.

The notices were mailed out by W. C. Jerome, county auditor; J. C. Lamb, county tax collector; and Charles Morris, local real estate broker and bean buyer, who compose the committee formulating the plans for the annual picnic.

According to Jerome, there will be no set program, the plan being for the former students of the veteran teacher and their families to assemble at the park and enjoy the day as individual tastes may dictate.

Raise Your Own MILK

The price of milk and dairy products will undoubtedly be affected by the adverse conditions in California this year. The low rain fall has already affected the pasture and hay crops.

About 2.5% of the dairy animals in this state have been killed on account of Foot and Mouth disease. The remaining estimated 649,000 dairy animals will have to be fed with about 50% of a crop production, except for imported feeds.

Milk is going to be high. Practically everyone in the country and out-lying districts can produce their own milk and cream and pay their overhead by retailing the surplus milk to their neighbors. If you wish to cut your household expenses—keep a cow.

We specialize on good, clean dairy feed. We sell Sperry's SUREMILK and Globe's A-1 as well as cotton seed meal, coconut meal, linseed meal, feed meal, and heavy white bran. Prices by the sack or the ton delivered or at our door. Think it over.

GOLF TOURNEY FOR 'AD' MEN OF WORLD

LONDON, June 10.—Delegates to the London convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, July 13 to 18, will have the privilege of playing over some of the oldest and most exclusive golf courses of England, according to reports from the program committee.

Lord Riddell, well-known British publisher and golf enthusiast has offered a number of valuable prizes for a tournament in which he has invited the delegates to participate at Walton Heath course, near London, July 18.

About 2,000 American advertising men will attend the convention, which will be formally opened by the Prince of Wales, and addressed by Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister of England; Frank Kellogg, American ambassador; E. T. Meredith, Herbert Houston, Lou Holland and others.

Extensive preparations are being made in England for the reception of the American delegates, this being the first time in history that the Prince of Wales will have personally opened such a convention.

Prof. A. D. Hoenshel departed Tuesday on a trip to the East. Going first to Berkeley he will visit his son Howard and from there he will go to St. Louis visiting Miss Frances Barbour, former teacher in the local high school. June 23 to 26 he will attend the national Lion's convention. One of the delightful features of the journey will be the visit to his old home in Pennsylvania where he has brothers and sisters. Mr. Hoenshel's next stop will be in Washington, D. C. where he will attend the National Educational association; he will also stop in Virginia before returning home in about six weeks.

GOLF TOURNEY FOR 'AD' MEN OF WORLD

LONDON, June 10.—Delegates to the London convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, July 13 to 18, will have the privilege of playing over some of the oldest and most exclusive golf courses of England, according to reports from the program committee.

Lord Riddell, well-known British publisher and golf enthusiast has offered a number of valuable prizes for a tournament in which he has invited the delegates to participate at Walton Heath course, near London, July 18.

About 2,000 American advertising men will attend the convention, which will be formally opened by the Prince of Wales, and addressed by Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister of England; Frank Kellogg, American ambassador; E. T. Meredith, Herbert Houston, Lou Holland and others.

Extensive preparations are being made in England for the reception of the American delegates, this being the first time in history that the Prince of Wales will have personally opened such a convention.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Peter Newhall, Augusta, Ga., who engages Ivan Ishmin, Russian violinist, in a quartet during a motorboat ride, threatens to throw Paul Sarichef, Ishmin's secretary, overboard for interfering. He awakens Ishmin he threw Sarichef overboard during the night. Ishmin urges him to flee to South America, but unknown to his wife, Dorothy, he flees to Alaska, where he is known as the Remittance Man.

He joins Big Chris Larson in response to a distress signal at sea, and rescues his son, who is upon him. Their launch hit rocks. Dorothy Newhall receives a telegram that her husband's body, identified by his sea jacket, has been buried near Pirate Cove, Alaska. She permits Ishmin to call, feeling she can now receive his attentions.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Two days' sail from Unalaska a broken part forced the Dolly Betts into a little settlement in the Shumagin Islands; and when the ship had fastened to the dock for repairs Pete found, to his consternation, that he was in Squaw Harbor, instantly remembered as the home port of the Jupiter. For the moment he was shaken with fear. Although his old stamping ground was on the other side of the Peninsula, the fame of the Remittance Man had carried down this far; and likely there were men here who would recognize him as Peter Neville. His first instinct was to duck below and remain in hiding.

But already that chance was gone. As he turned, he ran squarely upon two men who had just entered the pilot house; one of them was his brother, the other Aleck Bradford, the superintendent of the cannery, and the last man on earth whom he wanted to see now. Bradford had once offered him the hospitality of the little bachelor lodge he had built at the edge of the sea. It seemed inconceivable that the latter should pass him without recognition. Peter's heart leaped as the man walked by without a glance.

There had been few more terrifying seconds in Pete's life.

He halted, breathless and deathly pale under his brown wind-tan and sunburn. The officer's eyes were friendly; indeed he seemed less aloof, more companionable than ever before. "Come here, Aleck," he said easily to the man in front. Bradford turned with a look other than friendly interest. "Meet Pete—Limejuice Pete," he said. "This is Mr. Bradford, of the cannery." Bradford's smile and handshake were cordial. "Pete, Mr. Bradford has the biggest run of Redfish he ever had in his life in a new trap he was crafty enough to find, and he's in need of some good labor. You were going to get off up here a ways anyhow—why don't you ask for a job here with Mr. Bradford?"

Until this moment Peter had never realized how completely his appearance had been changed. Now, as Bradford gazed straight at him without even a hint of recognition, with no sign that this bearded sailor even recalled any one he had met, the fugitive's self-confidence mounted like a flame. "I'd be mighty glad to work here," he said quietly, "if Mr. Bradford can use me."

"I can use you, all right. I'll put you on the web-crew at the usual wages. I've never quite caught up with myself since I lost so many of my best men in the Jupiter disaster. By the way, Cap'n, you were standing by when that happened."

"Yes, we'd gone to help the Vigen—same as your boat, I guess. Pete, here, was on the Vigen—the single survivor. Of course, we put out a boat and cruised around until there was no hope of finding anyone else alive—then went on without waiting for the dead to drift ashore. We picked up Pete more or less alive on the shore, and how he got through those reefs was a miracle. We saw, just dimly in the dawn, the Jupiter break up, but she was too far away for us to help. How many men did you lose on the Jupiter when she went down?"

"All aboard, as you know—six of my men, a stranger from Nushagak whose body was never recovered—his name turned out to be Larson—and that chap that used to go as Peter Neville—we called him the Remittance Man, and he lived in a native village on the other side."

It seemed beyond belief to Pete that these men would not hear the wild, drumlike beat of his heart. "Did you find most of the bodies?" he asked, when at last he could trust himself to speak.

"About half of both crews. The Remittance Man, by the way, turned out to be quite a fellow down south—as I had always guessed. His real name was Newhall—something like that—and he'd got in a drunken brawl and killed a man—was up here hiding. He was almost out to pieces by the crags, and they identified him by some papers found in his coat. The poor devil's lying butt and over on the Bering Sea side, just about where they found the body."

Pete's face was white, but he held himself with an iron grip. The truth was plain enough now. He had given his coat, that night to the big Norseman—Big Chris Larson, the men had called him—and it was Larson's body that lay buried on the mainland opposite; it was Larson's name instead of his own that should be inscribed on the rude headstone.

He could go to work here, unchallenged and unsuspected. It was as if he had died and grown up again; that with his new appearance he must also gain a new personality—not that of the wealthy son of chivalry, Peter Newhall, but that of simple Pete, a plodder and a son of toil, a man of the North.

CHAPTER V
Dorothy's Decision
In the months since she had heard the first news of her husband's death life had moved gracefully in Dorothy's home in the south. Ivan had tried hard to make her forget her loss, ignoring the clamoring public to be with her, heedful of her every wish, showering her with princely attentions. Meanwhile he wooed her with that incomparable finesse that is the peculiar gift of the eastern peoples.

He never let her forget his suit, one moment in an hour. He played to her, he brought her gifts, priceless but always in perfect taste; curious out of the east, rare works of art from his own ancestral castle in the Urals. In her warmer moods he urged immediate marriage, and when she was cool and unresponsive he begged for her promise of future surrender to him, when time had healed the wound of Peter's loss.

One night in the second year he had brought her a marvelous blue diamond—a priceless thing with a sinister history—and he had wanted her to take it as a symbol of engagement; and that night she had been strangely, deeply afraid of him. She had let the stone gather fire to her hand, and when she had taken it off and put it in his palm it was as if its cruel, hard, malevolently beautiful light had passed to his thin face. "Keep it a while, Ivan," she told him. "Sometime I would be proud to wear it—but not yet."

"I KNOW I CAN'T WEAR MOURNING FOREVER."

She had gone into subdued mourning, but still saw a few friends and visited a few of the neighboring homes; and now, as another Georgia summer was at its height, he mingled with her to go back to the gay colors that he loved. He seemed to feel that when her old gaiety returned to her, when she again took her place in the smart southern society, his long courtship would be crowned with success. But he did not at once win this point; and because she did not fully understand it herself, she was scarcely able to explain to him the curious way she felt about it. "I can't be the girl I was, Ivan," she explained. "If that girl was the girl you loved, and you don't want her changed, you'd better go away—and not come back. Some way, I don't feel that I could begin exactly where I left off. I don't feel and think exactly like I did—maybe I'm more like the girl that Peter originally married—like a schoolgirl instead of a woman. I feel bewildered—not knowing where to turn or how to go. I know I can't wear mourning forever."

"Then put it off. It's been a year and a half. Take up the old happy life again."

"There's the trouble. I don't feel I can go back to exactly the kind of happiness that you mean; of course I'll come round to it in time. Just don't hurry me, Ivan. Something is working in me, and I don't know what it is; but in the end I think it will be all right. You know there is no other man. But when I try to think of you, so many times I find myself thinking of Peter—lying on that storm-tossed seasack. Just don't hurry me, and I feel—I almost know—that everything will come out right for you in time."

She had received, long since, her husband's few belongings, gathered by the patient effort of Captain Johansen; and she could not go near them now without tears. With them she had received a letter—one that no human eyes save her own had seen—and some way it had revealed their marriage relation in a new light. It had not only shown Peter from a different angle, but had also illumined her point of view in regard to herself. Her thought had taken a new course since reading this letter. Up until then she had always thought upon her husband's disgrace and death as the consummation of his own deed; heroic punishment, surely, but for which he could blame no one but himself. Now she began to wonder if some little jot of the blame could not be laid on her.

Ivan's attentions, after those first, blissful months of her marriage, had been flattery of the most engaging kind. To receive it, to waken other women's jealousy, she had given him more dances than were his right, had devoted too much of her time and attention to him. It had all been like a mad dream—going from morning till night, sacrificing her home hours.

News From Orange County

ALLEGED TANKER DUMPED WASTE OIL ON SEA

Huntington Beach Trustees Aroused at Pollution of Bathing Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 10.—Action will be brought against the British tanker, Silver Shell, from Liverpool, England, which recently docked at San Pedro, for the discharging of bilge water within the three mile limit, if it was a fact that the ship was within the three mile limit when it passed the coast here Sunday afternoon, it was declared at the city trustee meeting last night.

Local trustees declared that the beach here and as far south as Newport Beach was literally saturated with oil.

That action might be taken in the future to apprehend tankers for this offense was intimated by the city officials. A fine of $5000 may be imposed for the offense if the captain of the ship is found guilty, it is declared.

The matter of notifying all oil companies to keep their oil in control and not let it get into the gutters along the streets, and elsewhere was also taken up and the matter was referred to the street committee for immediate action. Every oil company will be notified to watch their oil.

ANAHEIM BUILDING CONTINUES HIGHER

ANAHEIM, June 10.—Anaheim's rank in building activities for the month of May in Southern California, revealed that the city is experiencing the steady growth which characterized other Southland cities during the past month.

Although not exceeding the permit valuation in 1923, Anaheim's May total of $77,550, was greater than the valuation reported by any other Orange county city for the month, and was also higher than many other cities of the same size throughout Southern California.

Although May was a busy month for building throughout this section, the boom figures of 1923 still remain as a record at most points.

Several places, however, showed substantial gains over last year.

The figures for Orange county for the month of May placed Anaheim in the lead with a total of $77,550, followed by Santa Ana, $75,550; Fullerton $28,400 and Orange, $16,250.

BACCALAUREATE AT ANAHEIM IS GIVEN

ANAHEIM, June 10.—The graduating class of the local high school, Sunday night assembled at the Baccalaureate services which were held with Dr. A. William Olmstead, of the University of California, giving the principal address of the evening on "The Test of My Citizenship."

The graduating class joined with the audience in opening the program with an Italian hymn, after which Rev. Thomas H. Walker, delivered the invocation. The faculty chorus sang "My Defense Is of God," by Huhn, followed by Joshua Williams, who entertained with a solo, "The Lord Is My Shepherd." Rev. L. L. Myers, spoke briefly and the entire audience sang "America." The program closed with Dean Bode offering the benediction.

New Street Lights To Be Installed By Beach Trustees

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 10.—A. C. Rice, lowest bidder for the lighting system to be installed on Eleventh street, will be instructed by the city clerk here to appear in person before the local board of trustees at the meeting to be held next Monday night, it was decided last night. All of the bids on the lighting system were taken under advisement at the last meeting of the board, but during the week the city clerk was unable to get in touch with Rice, it was claimed.

The plans and specifications for the lighting system for Eleventh street were taken under advisement for one week. A recent petition on the part of numerous property owners started the proposition.

Dentists To Study Clinical Methods

ANAHEIM, June 10.—Following the recent announcement here that a dental clinic would be established for the school children of the city, it was announced today that several local dentists in charge of the arrangements would attend the twenty-seventh annual convention of the Southern California Dental Association, to be held in San Diego, June 24, 25 and 26.

At this time, clinics directed by Los Angeles, Long Beach and Pasadena dentists will be featured, and are expected to play an active part in the establishment of a clinic here, where all school children may receive free service.

LAGUNA BEACH, June 10.—What other setting could be appropriate as the one prepared for the barbecue given by the Women's club of Laguna Beach on Saturday at noon?

On the site of the future Art Gallery, with the mighty Pacific stretched out at the foot of the cliff, presenting a panorama of unequalled beauty, a rugged shoreline thinly veiled in a soft gray mist and disappearing in the distance. In the immediate background a grove of stately eucalyptus were darkly outlined against Laguna's majestic hills, lending strength and dignity to the picture, a harmony unparalleled.

The morning broke with fog and a light rain but before the workers had completed their tasks of getting things in readiness the sun was shining brightly.

Tables were erected to seat twenty delegates each, above these were gallantly decorated beach umbrellas. The color scheme for the day, colors of the Laguna Beach Women's club of yellow and blue. Tables were banked with beautiful flowers and each hostess was permitted to use her own initiative in decorating her table, giving a most artistic effect, in true conformity with the ideal Art Colony, Laguna Beach, the beach that is different. This formed a most picturesque scene, a flash of color against the blue of the mighty Pacific, with the shoreline forming a panorama of unequalled beauty.

The Biennial convention of the Federation of Women's clubs, which is now convening at Los Angeles, set aside Saturday, June 14 as Play Day for the fifteen thousand women who had been chosen by their respective clubs throughout the entire United States to come to this convention.

Orange county entertained two hundred of these delegates.

As the caravan drew near, escorted by uniformed officers of the Santa Ana police force, the famous California smile broke forth as an epidemic among the hostesses and helpers, and very soon spread to all the visitors as they came, continuing through the very lovely

Specifications For Paving Are Ordered Changed

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 10.—Proceedings for the paving of Orange Avenue, Walnut avenue, and Fourteenth street were last night ordered abandoned by the city trustees at their regular session, and the city engineer was ordered to draw the plans and specifications, cross sections, and profiles for the same streets, with an asphalt concrete base, a Topoka type top, and open specifications, instead of setting forth the specifications, and including the Willite paving as has hitherto been used here.

According to P. L. Chattock, of the asphalt division of the standard oil company, the trustees came to the decision to change the paving material after looking over the paving jobs on Fairview and Bush streets in Santa Ana.

Orange avenue will be paved from Lake street to Twenty-third street, Walnut will be paved from First to Twenty-third, and Fourteenth street from Ocean avenue to Palm avenue. Protests on the paving of Orange avenue were not considered on account of the abandonment of all former proceedings.

Oil Worker's Car And Banker's Meet on Beach Highway

SEAL BEACH, June 10.—Two automobiles belonging to Orange county parties collided at the corner of the intersection of Santa Ana boulevard and the State highway Saturday night. When the cars were damaged the occupants escaped without serious injury.

One car was driven by Leon Knowlton an oil worker of Huntington Beach, the other by E. W. Bollinger, an Orange banker. Bollinger laid the accident to insufficient lighting, and the fact that the car was traveling at the speed at which Bollinger was traveling.

NAB ENGINEER ON CHARGE OF DRUNKENNESS

SEAL BEACH, June 10.—Seal Beach officers threw the drag net out for liquor offenders yesterday. Marshal C. J. Arnold arrested B. L. Mandon, a prominent mining engineer living in San Pedro and charged him with the possession of liquor. Mandon was sitting in a car on a crowded street when he caught a pint bottle of bootleg whisky from his pocket and started to drink in full view of hundreds of people, according to the officers.

The officer was just in time to save the man from swallowing the decoction. Half an hour before a companion of Mandon was swimming in the surf, and according to the officers, was so far under the influence of liquor that he narrowly escaped drowning. Mandon's hearing was set for June 11. He was locked in the city pending arrangement for $100 cash bail.

INTIMATE NOTES OF LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, June 10.—Mrs. Julia B. Strode, newly elected president of the Woman's Club, as delegate, has been attending the biennial Los Angeles Convention.

Mrs. R. Clarkson, state chairman of art, has been attending the convention as delegate from the state board.

Wednesday, June 11, Fine Arts day will be well represented by Laguna Beach Art colony. The Woman's club is sending the following delegates: Mrs. R. Clarkson Colman, Mrs. William S. Daniel, Miss Anna Hill, Miss Lolita Perine and Mrs. Curtis Lee.

Mr. St. Ritus Benda, well-known dancing instructor from Los Angeles was a Laguna visitor during the last week. Mr. Benda was much impressed with the beach and has now purchased property on which he will erect a studio summer home.

The members of the road committee of the Laguna Beach chamber of commerce, consisting of A. B. Marshall, chairman, Joseph S. Thurston, Roy W. Peacock and F. W. Conkey, gave a very delightful dinner at the Arch Beach Tavern on Saturday evening.

The guests present were: Mr. N. T. Edwards, California state highway commissioner; Mr. T. E. Talbert, chairman of the Orange county board of supervisors; Mr. George Jeffrey, Orange county supervisor for the Laguna district; Mr. J. M. McBride, county engineer; Mr. H. G. Heisler, secretary of the Laguna Beach chamber of commerce; Mr. Roboatham, chairman of the publicity committee, Laguna Beach chamber of commerce; Mr. Crane and Mrs. Marsden. The dinner was given as a preliminary of the mass meeting held at the Community club house later in the evening.

Mr. Elmer Thurston recently from the rock-bound coast of Maine has chosen Laguna Beach as his future home. He is an artist of some note and the beauty of Laguna has done its work.

Mr. J. William Clemons of Pasadena, an artist by profession, spent a very pleasant week-end at Laguna. He visited the Art Gallery and many of the studios on his trip.

Among the many visitors at the Laguna Beach Art Gallery an interesting trio is hereby mentioned, also from the fact that they are all very enthusiastic about Laguna Beach and very loud in their praises.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fitzhugh Rathgen is an artist and lives at Hollywood; Mr. Wyllie Taylor is an actor and resides in Los Angeles, as does Mr. Jesse Cantello, who is a playwright.

A very delicious dinner was served at the Hazel Cafe on Sunday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Thorvald J. Moen, the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Seligness and daughter Evelyn, Mrs. Zeke Seligness and Mrs. Jack Bernsten of San Pedro, Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Benson and family, Mrs. Krippa and Mrs. Borghild L. Stephens of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Purpus, host and hostess at the Laguna Beach Villa, charmingly entertained a party of friends over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Watson and daughter Dorothy of Los Angeles, Miss Francis Moncrief, Miss Julia Mahoney, Miss Florence Flynn and Miss Pearl Hornback. Mr. Watson is affiliated with the Travel Bureau and Resort Information department of the Los Angeles Express; Miss Mahoney and Miss Moncrief are with the Resort Information Bureau of the Los Angeles Examiner, and Miss Flynn and Miss Hornback are with the Travel Bureau and Resort Information department of the Illustrated Daily News.

Mr. Fred Audenkamp entertained the party at the Lynn Theater

LAGUNA BEACH HEARS ABOUT NEW ROAD

LAGUNA BEACH, June 10.—The Laguna Beach Community Club House was filled to capacity on Saturday night with enthusiastic residents of the Beach, the occasion being to hear more about the Coast Road and the possibilities for its early completion.

A. B. Marshall, as Chairman of the Highway Right-of-Ways Committee of Commerce, introduced the first speaker of the evening, Nels T. Edwards, member of the California State Highway Commission and representative from Southern California.

Mr. Edwards spoke convincingly of his stand in the commission toward Orange County and the Coast Highway between Balboa and Serra Station, stating that he was with us and for us to the fullest extent.

He further assured the citizens of Laguna Beach that the commission was ready to do their part when all right-of-ways were deeded, also that we might expect pavement at once through the town of Laguna Beach when such right-of-ways were secured. Mr. Edwards stated that the California Highway Commission expect to advertise for bids in about two or three weeks for the grading of the Coast Highway between Balboa and Laguna Beach, as the right-of-way had been secured through the Irvine Ranch and that it only remained to get the Laguna Beach right-of-way to complete the great chain of Coast Highway from Canada to Mexico.

T. E. Talbert, chairman of the board of supervisors of Orange county, spoke of the opposition to the coast road in the dim past, some ten years ago, when Southern California was accused of consisting only of sand dunes, pickle-weeds and other undesirable features, and also showed in contrast to this what Southern California, and in particular Orange County, is today, stating that Southern California is the Mecca of the West, the playground ideal. Mr. Talbert also pointed out the numerous benefits that would accrue by taking advantage of this opportunity, striking while the iron is hot—in other words, get the Coast Highway while the Commission is in the mood and has the money with which to build this highway.

Orange county, Mr. Talbert stated, would have to pay $300,000.00 for the construction of bridges on this stretch of highway, also stating that they were ready to start construction as soon as the State Highway Commission began activities, and he urged upon Laguna Beach to get quick action on the right-of-way.

Mr. George Jeffrey who is Orange county supervisor for the district in which this Highway is to be built, spoke briefly of his regard for Laguna Beach and assured the assembly that he was with and for us at all times. Mr. Jeffrey compared Laguna Beach with a beautiful diamond, one that should be properly set and displayed, and suggested the New Coast Highway as a very fitting and proper setting.

Mr. McBride, County Engineer, and formerly County Surveyor, spoke of the first survey started between Balboa and Serra about ten years ago, but which was not completed. Mr. McBride complimented the Laguna Beach Right-of-Ways Committee of the Chamber of Commerce on the splendid work they have done and thanked the citizens of Laguna for their cooperation and support.

Local speakers were Mr. Joseph S. Thurston, Mr. Roy D. Peacock and Mr. N. E. West. Mr. West stated that a completed highway along the entire coast was the best means possible to safeguard our country against enemy invasion.

Anaheim To Send Seventeen Men To Kiwanis Meeting

ANAHEIM, June 10.—There will be seventeen persons in the Anaheim Kiwanis party which will join with the rest of the Southern California delegation on the trip to the international convention of Kiwanis clubs that will be held in Denver, June 16, 17, 18 and 19.

to Harry Horn, secretary of the local club. Horn will not accompany the local delegation, but will leave Anaheim today, and join them at Sacramento, where the California special train will leave Saturday morning.

Besides the Anaheim delegates, William Wallop and Harry Horn, the party will consist of the Anaheim Kiwanis quartet, some of whom are taking their wives.

and Earl Davidson, who has recently taken charge of the delicatessen at the Laguna Beach Villa, provided them with the necessary refreshments.

Sunday they were taken for a delightful motor trip through Laguna Beach and were showing the points of interest. On their return to the Villa Mr. Watson, with a high of satisfaction said "Well, it's a pretty good burg after all," and this was voted by the rest of the party as "them's my sentiments, too."

INJURIES FATAL TO AUTO CRASH VICTIM

POMONA, June 10.—Mrs. Mary Walters, 234 Pacific avenue, Long Beach, died in the San Antonio hospital at Uplands yesterday as the result of injuries sustained Sunday night when she and five other passengers in a light touring car were struck by a westbound Southern Pacific freight train at Monte Vista.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Byers were painfully injured, which J. J. Petitioner was slightly hurt. They are also in the San Antonio hospital. Two other victims of the accident Harry C. Marsalles and Charles Hammond are in the Pomona Valley hospital here, and will recover. All of the party except Mrs. Walters, are Los Angeles residents.

Constipation makes bright children dull—give them relief with Kellogg's Bran

Constipation dulls the youthful mind—makes children backward in their studies—makes them listless—and can lead to serious diseases. Constipation is a dangerous disease.

You cannot afford to take chances in getting relief. You cannot afford to experiment or put off. Kellogg's Bran brings relief—permanent relief if eaten regularly. Even in the most chronic cases of constipation it is guaranteed to bring results. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

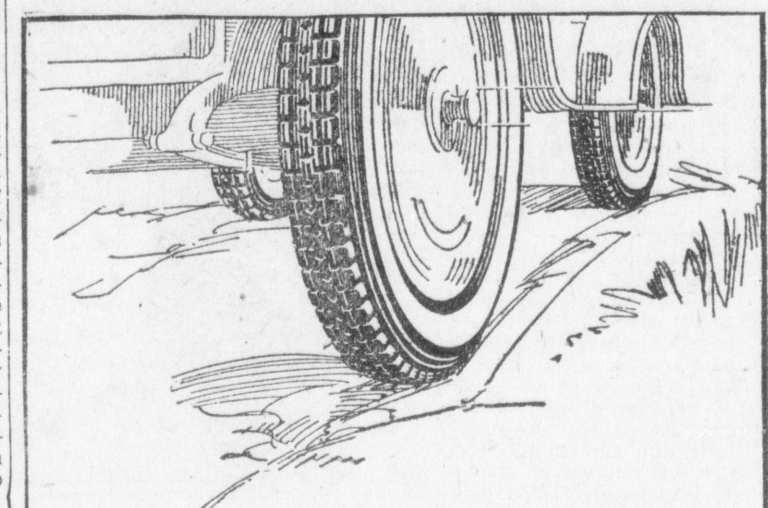

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, has brought relief to thousands because it is ALL bran. Remember, only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It causes regular, healthy, normal action. For it works as nature works. It is ALL bran.

Give your children eat it regularly—two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the wonderful recipes on every package.

The flavor is delicious—a crisp, nut-like flavor that delights the taste. Different by far from ordinary brands, which are unpalatable.

Begin serving Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, to your children to-day. Eat it yourself. The leading hotels and clubs serve it. Made in Battle Creek. It is sold by all grocers.

'BAIT' CAR IN
SPEEDERS

Unsuspecting Pilots Are
'Teased' Into Driving
Over Legal Limit

'TRAP' IS SUCCESS

New Method Is Declared to Be 'Tougher on Motorist' Than Old Trap

More trouble for the speeder.
Heretofore traffic officers have been in the habit of pursuing speeding motorists, but now the order is being reversed and speeders are arrested when they attempt to overtake and pass the speed "cops," it was declared today at the headquarters of the state motorcycle police at the sheriff's office here.

And some of the officers are riding in automobiles instead of on their motorcycles, it was declared.

The latest method used by officers in Orange county is proving highly successful.

The official automobile is driven by a deputy sheriff who wears civillian clothes, and seated with him are two state motorcycle policemen in their khaki uniforms.

Car Used as "Bait"

The car is driven at an exact speed of thirty-five miles an hour and whenever a car from the rear attempts to pass, the police car is accelerated until the "teased" motorist is unquestionably beyond the legal speed, and when his car attempts to race past the "bait" the arm of the law is extended to stop the offender.

A speed trap?

That remains to be decided.
In some ways this means of arresting speeders is said to be 'tougher on the motorist' than the ordinary speed trap, for it is pointed out, there is perhaps a specific inducement to the speeder even to increase his unlawful speed in the new plan while in the former method a speeder was arrested for setting his own pace without any particular encouragement from the guardians of the law.

The placing of traffic officers in civilian clothes on various state highways, another plan to discourage speeding and reckless driving, is the subject of considerable discussion in automobile circles here.

Hits "Civies" Use

"I believe that tight of a uniformed officer patrolling the highways will accomplish more in discourage speeding and in preventing accidents than if some of the officers 'ride their beats' in civilian clothes," Sheriff Sam Jernigan asserted. "I don't think that the main idea is to achieve a great many arrests—it is to discourage speeding and to prevent accidents, and it seems to me that the uniform will carry more leverage for this purpose than the civilian clothes on our officers."

City Marshal L. Claude Rogers stated:

"I think the sheriff is right in his belief, so far as the average autoist is concerned, but the officers have a big job to corral those

THOUSANDS CALL HER GENIUS
YET KANSAS CITY GIRL SHUNS STAGE TO STAY WITH MOTHER

MARION TALLEY

KANSAS CITY, June 10.—Thousands of persons have called her a genius.

Offers of stage engagements have been thrust upon her.

Wealth has been piled at her doorstep.

Yet Marion Talley, 17, is just like any other girl of her age, perhaps less a flapper than many.

With thousands of dollars a year placed at her disposal, Marion remains a simple midwestern child, helping her mother with the dishes in the evening.

Father Telegraph Operator

A few days ago she used rouge for the first time, and then it was because she was to appear before 8000 persons in a strong calcium light.

For Marion Talley is a singer.
She's going to be the greatest in the world, Kansas City folk think.

They discovered her two years ago. Her voice astounded music lovers. They predicted a glorious future.

Then it was learned that her father, a $150-a-month telegraph operator, could not afford a vocal education.

Friends Paid Tuition

A fund was started, and $10,000 raised to pay for her schooling.
She spent two years in New York, returning to Kansas City for the summer.

The best instructors were hired for her. "There is more money where that came from," citizens here told her. They made good their boast and enough money to continue her education another year was raised at a concert upon her return.

"I like to have my old school
chums call on me," she says. "Yes, I'll marry some boy some day, but not for a long time."

"The thing I liked most about New York were the rides on the motor busses," she says.

Myriads of Articles Useful For Disabled Soldiers to Be Sought

With Tuesday, June 17, set as the day for making the collection, heads of soldier welfare organizations of Santa Ana today were arranging to make known to Santa Ana and its environs the needs of ex-service men in the hospitals at Camp Kearney and Saw-telle.

Lists of articles that can be used and will be welcomed at the hospitals have been received from Red Cross directors at the two hospitals. It is the opinion of those in charge of the project here that hundreds of these articles are in local homes, and will be gladly added to the shipment to the hospitals.

This is not to be a call for money. It was announced, but for articles, including recreational games, bed jackets, jams and jellies in small containers, things that can be used in occupational therapy by men who are seeking for something to do to occupy their minds.

Set Collection Date

Yesterday afternoon, at a meeting at the office of Mrs. J. H.
Leebick, secretary of Santa Ana chapter, American Red Cross, the date for the collection was set.
The articles called for are to be
on Birch street, next Tuesday.

The call for yesterday's meeting was issued through the local Red Cross, to Edwin McFadden, commander of the American Legion post, Mrs. H. H. Reeves, chairman of the legion auxiliary,
G. P. Lawrence, commander of Sedgewick post, G. A. R. Mrs.
S. W. Sutton, chairman of the W. R. C., H. G. Miller, commander of the Spanish American War post, Miss Hazel Bemis, chairman of the Junior Red Cross, and T. E. Stephenson, chairman, and Mrs. Leebick, secretary, of the Red Cross.

Letters from Miss Clara E.
Kummer, director of Red Cross service at hospital for the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, at Sawtelle, and Otto S. Lund, director of Red Cross at the U. S. Veterans Hospital No. 64 at Camp Kearney were read.

Tells Conditions

A statement of conditions at the hospital at Sawtelle was made by Miss Cornell, field representative of the Red Cross, who is in this county making an inspection of Red Cross activities.

"There is a very real need for the things that are asked for at the hospital," said Miss Cornell. "The situation
there is trying for the reason that the hospital has had a large increase in its members, and yet it must be run on a budget and appropriation made for a smaller number. At the present time there are about 2500 men in the hospital. Half of these men are Civil War and Spanish War veterans and the other half are World War veterans. When the new hospital at San Fernando is completed the World War men will be moved there. That may be a year or two years hence.
In the meantime, the Red Cross, assisted by other soldier welfare organizations such as are represented here today, can do much good."

At Sawtelle, it was pointed out by Miss Cornell in the letters from Miss Kummer, efforts are being directed to furnishing swings, chairs, bed jackets, bean-ies, sweaters, umbrellas, for the comfort of tubercular patients who can be allowed out of doors.

Need Same Equipment

For the stronger of these patients mild recreational equipment, such as tennis rackets, horseshoes, croquet, croquetball and clock golf are needed.

Mrs. Reeves and McFadden, both of whom are familiar with conditions at Camp Kearney, out-

Saving of $14,000 Will Be Effected During Next School Term, Shown

The city schools of Santa Ana will have five less teachers next year than were in the ranks this year, it was ascertained today when announcement of the election of new teachers was made.

A saving of approximately $14-785 will be effected on salaries, according to the report made to the board of education by J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools. Of the amount saved, $10,500 is accounted for by the smaller amount of teachers, and the remainder is the amount saved in smaller salaries offered.

Of the new teachers that have been elected, nineteen in number, six are Santa Anans and three of these are graduates of the Santa Ana high school and the junior college.

"We wanted to elect as many home girls as we possibly could," said Cranston.

Following are the new teachers elected:

High school—Frances Rundstrom, director of music, Long Beach graduate of the Chicago Normal college, University of Nebraska, with special work at the University of Southern California; Edith B.
Aiton, of Santa Ana, English, M.
A. degree, University of Michigan.

are to be married or clerk and president of the school board, respectively.

A petition for the retention of Miss Maude Tuttlebaugh will also be presented to the board of trustees at the hearing it is declared.
The petition is signed by numerous parents of children taught by Miss Tuttlebaugh and expresses approval of her work.

REVEAL STATUS OF ROAD WORK
AS BIDS FOR NEW PAVING RECEIVED

Two-Mile Fairview Avenue
Construction to Add Harbor Link

'BRIDGES RUSHED

Contractors Make Speed In Building Structures on Coast Highway

Simultaneously with the scheduled opening of bids today for paving two miles of Fairview avenue an undertaking regarded as highly important in supplying a new entirely paved artery to Newport harbor, J. L. McBride, superintendent of county highways, made public the status of several important construction projects.

The proposed paving of Fairview avenue is looked upon as having much significance because of the fact that it will pave the gap between the present county highway at Fairview with the boulevard to Newport Beach, at Costa Mesa.

The supervisors recently granted a petition of property owners asking that an assessment district for the improvement be created.

The proposed construction will be of concrete 7 inches thick in the center and 9 inches on the edges and the boulevard will be eighteen feet wide.

This paving will be a unit of a project which has been discussed and to carry out, it is estimated will cost $1,000,000—the completed truck highway from the south end of Spadra avenue, Fullerton, to Costa Mesa.

Bridge Work Progresses

McBride stated that satisfactory progress was being made on the $135,000 bridge construction contracts let in connection with the building of the coast highway in Orange county. One of these bridges across Anaheim bay, southeast of Seal Beach, will cost $75,000.

Ledbetter and Company of Los Angeles, building this bridge, have overcome much difficulty in installing foundations, due to mud, and now expect to have the bridge ready next month. One steel span 40 feet long is to be placed.

The other bridge is to be built across the Santa Ana river near its mouth, at a cost of $60,000. The McKay Engineering company of Los Angeles, holders of the contract, began driving the preliminary piling last week. A feature of this work will be the placing of three 60-foot steel spans and the building of 200-foot concrete approaches at each end of the structure.

Complete Pouring Concrete

Concrete has been poured on the half-mile section of Tustin avenue from Seventeenth street north to Santa Clara avenue, and work will begin this week on paving 300 feet of Santa Clara avenue from Tustin avenue west to the Santa Ana city limits.

The Griffith company, of Los Angeles, expects to complete within ten days the laying of asphalt concrete on a $75,000 contract covering for the paving of two miles of various streets in Placentia.

Half of the three-mile $50,000 paving work which Basich Brothers are doing in the Laguna canyon has been completed and thrown open to traffic and the remainder is scheduled to be opened Saturday.

McBride sounded a warning as-to the new Laguna work, by stating that no dirt shoulders had yet been constructed and that motorists should drive slowly and avoid the edges of the concrete for fear of driving into ditches alongside.

ANNIVERSARY OF WEDDING MARKED

EL TORO, June 10.—Celebrating

the twenty-third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gould,
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hendricks opened their home near Capistrano to a group of interested relatives and friends Sunday. A noon-day dinner was served. Pink carnations were used to decorate the rooms.
Music and merry conversation whiled away the afternoon hours.
Those present besides the honorees and the hosts, were Mr. and Mrs. L.
Purdy, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence
James, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deaver,
Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Clark, Misses Marjorie, Clarice and Betty Jane
James, Dorothy Trapp, Mary Ann Deaver, Nancy Clark and Messrs.
Bruce Gould, Hiram Davenport,
Howard James, Walter and Billie Clark. The A. Trapp family was not able to attend on account of the illness of Mr. Trapp.

Mrs. George Osterman was a Los Angeles visitor Saturday.

The children of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Evans of San Onofre are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Waterman, while their parents are taking a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Pierce motored to Santa Ana Saturday evening.

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, June 10.—If any further demonstration was needed of the solid position of the general list, it was furnished by the splendid action of the market following publication of U. S. Steel's unprofitable tonnage statement for May. This report, which fully justified the most pessimistic advance estimates of the extent of the shrinkage which would be shown, failed to start even a ripple of selling in the general market.

Short covering was accelerated by strength of the whole market in late afternoon and both rail and industrial lists were buoyant, in closing dealings. New York Central led the upward movement among the standard carriers reaching new high ground on the movement at 103 1/2, while among medium priced issues St. Louis Southwestern advanced its best price since 1912 at 40 1/2, and new highs for the year were attained by Missouri Pacific at 48 1/2, and Texas and Pacific at 34 1/2. Baldwin was the strongest feature among the principal industrials, reaching a new high ground at 109 1/2.

Closing prices included:

lined the situation there. The organizations they represent have been sending money and supplies to the Camp Kearney hospital. Just recently the Legion auxiliary sent $500 there.

Mrs. M. C. Smith, treasurer of the W. R. C. here, was present representing that organization. She stated that the corps sends a box of articles frequently to Sawtelle hospital.

"The purpose of the collection next Tuesday," said T. E. Stephenson, chairman of the Red Cross chapter, "is to gather from homes in Santa Ana, Tustin, Huntington Beach, Garden Grove and other places in the county scores of articles that may have been discarded and are now not used in the home, yet may be the very thing needed by the sick men."

The list of articles for which the call is issued includes the following:

Here Is List

At Camp Kearney—Playing cards. Small soft pillows, needed in unlimited quantity. Small flower vases. Small bags for bedside to hold toilet articles. Large basket vases for Red Cross house. Knitted skull caps, called beanies. Bridge score pads and pencils. Late Victrol records. Recent piano rolls for standard Ampico player piano. Jams and jellies. Laundry bags.

At Sawtelle—Recreational supplies, such as baseballs, bats, gloves, matched horseshoes, croquet, roque, clock golf, croquinoles, checkers, chess. For new tuberculosis annex, lawn chairs, big duvettas. Unlimited need for small pillows, known as baby pillows. "Desperately in need of bed jackets," such as a patient sitting up in bed can wear. Sweaters with sleeves, beanies, jams and jellies. For occupational department, pieces of leather, strips of new cloth suitable for weaving of rugs, new canvases and new oil cloth wide enough to make auto tire covers, copper, brass and old articles of copper and brass. Yarn, both silk and wool, for making scarfs.

apart from the average. A burglar won't rob a house if he sees a policeman in uniform walking back and forth in front of the place, but if we expect to protect the public from this criminal it often is necessary for us to have plainclothesmen scattered about the city as a stronger means of discouraging crime in Santa Ana. That theory may apply the same way to the patrol of the state highways."

Engineer's Place Proves Attraction

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 10.—Eleven applications for the position of city engineer and street superintendent were last night submitted to the local board of trustees and taken under advisement for one week.

Among the applications were those of the following: H. F. Holley of Nevada; Curry Engineering company of Alhambra; George A. Schwabman of Oceanside; W. W. Hoy of Santa Ana; D. E. Henry of Los Angeles; J. M. Nemecek of Los Angeles; E. M. Billings of Los Angeles; Thomas Berry of Huntington Beach; Henry Worth of this city; and M. Rosson of Santa Ana.

References and qualifications will be looked up during the coming week and it is expected that action will be taken at the next meeting of the board of trustees.

Mrs. Jay Davidson, of New Orleans, possesses the first one-dollar banknote of the "green-back" variety ever issued by the United States government. The note, now faded and discolored, is numbered 1 and bears date of August 1, 1862.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, June 10.—The Chamber of Commerce and W. F. Cory met in the Oddfellows hall Friday night, with a few people present. Mr. Cory gave his scheduled talk on dairy management, and Mrs. S. Darling and daughter, Nadine, sang. The question of whether fireworks would be allowed in Westminster this Fourth of July was also brought up. Westminster has practically no fire protection, and in the event of a fire, would be helpless. C. Shafer suggested that if a pipe line were laid on both sides of the boulevard, and a pumping system provided with hydrants at proper intervals, the insurance would probably be reduced enough to more than repay the expense of putting it in.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Burch and family were in Huntington Beach yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sisler and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Johnson were in Anaheim Friday evening on business.

Sunday, Mrs. Alice Hanline, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hanline, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sigler motored to Laguna Beach where they enjoyed a chicken dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Carter and family and Herman Johnston of Hemet, called on Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Parks at Riverside.

Mrs. O. B. Byram and daughter Fern and son Glen, attended the monthly meeting of the Life Work Society's Christian Endeavor society at Brea. There was a missionary there from India, who had many curious and interesting exhibits, and everyone enjoyed the pot-luck supper served. Dudley and Scooby Smith of Burbank, returned with the Byrams for a week-end stay at their home.

Mrs. Henry West and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Greenhaw and Misses Earline and Edna Carter as week-end guests from Bellflower. Sunday was enjoyed by these folks in Orange county park.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Salem and family enjoyed a motor trip to Elsinore Sunday.

Mrs. Nellie Morgan and Mrs. Frank Lewis were shoppers in Santa Ana Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Thomas and niece from Huntington Beach were Sunday visitors of E. A. Thomas, their son.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Loftus were in Lomita Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Clyde Day and O. J. Day and Herbert Day made a trip to Hemet Saturday to see Clyde Day who is seeking health in that climate. Mrs. Day contemplates returning at an early date for a few weeks stay with her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hoffman of Talbert visited Miss Ida Bell Chandler Sunday.

Rev. W. T. Wardle, on his way to Seattle, Wash., passed Sunday in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Moulton and daughter, Charlotte, of El Toro, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Patterson, old friends of theirs.

Miss Amanda Knox and Wayne Arnett attended the theater at Santa Ana Saturday evening and a dance at Wintersburg afterwards.

Word had been received here that Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hare and family will soon return to make their home in this place again. They have been residing for some years at Holland Island.

L. B. Hay, son of C. C. Hay, left Friday for Tampico, Mexico, first going to Houston and West Columbia, Texas, on a pleasure trip. Mr. Hay has been visiting his parents here for about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson and family of Long Beach and Mr. and Mrs. M. Terhune, had a pleasant trip through Turnbull canyon Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cozad, of Hemet, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cozad. Simeon, son of W. J. Cozad, has returned from Hemet. He will remain with his parents and enter the high school at Huntington Beach this fall.

George W. Whitcomb and son Paul attended the Ascot Speedway races in Los Angeles Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Trenary were shopping in Santa Ana Saturday.

A group of folks who were close friends and neighbors back in Yakima, Wash., gathered Sunday at Bixby Park in Long Beach to celebrate the birthday of H. O. Chamberlain. No detail was neglected to make this a perfect party, as a steaming hot dinner was served, with a large birthday cake and brick ice cream to round out. Flowers graced the tables, about which were seated the following: Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Perriman, and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Perry, and daughter, and Frank Martin, all of San Pedro; also, Mr. and Mrs. C. Collins, of Long Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain. Supper was served also.

The San Pedro Lumber company is enlarging its store building, which when completed, will be just twice the size it now is.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Greshner and family enjoyed the swimming at Huntington Beach Sunday.

Marion Spurgeon of Huntington Beach took supper with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hays Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. LaBee and Mrs. J. M. Carter motored to San Diego Sunday calling on Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Baldwin. Mrs. Bessie Witherspoon returned with the party and will be their guest for a few days.

Mrs. F. M. Ransom and daughter, Mae, enjoyed the hospitality of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Fordyce in Long Beach Sunday.

A group of people attended the dance at Wintersburg Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Arnett and daughter, Ruby, son Wayne, Miss Amanda Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Edwards, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Carter, Miss Rosalia Carter, being those who motored over.

Mrs. J. H. Anderson and daughter, Allene, from Huntington Beach were all day guests yesterday at the home of Mrs. R. H. Arnett.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bickmore and children, together with Mr. and Mrs. Steglia passed Sunday at Sunset Beach.

WORKING GIRL STORY ON SCREEN AT YOST

A girl blessed with beauty and a measure of intelligence usually face the crisis, sooner or later, when they may choose to continue at their toil or wander easily down the primrose path. Those who take the lane that has no turning come to realize that "You Can't Get Away With It."

So, too, did Gouverneur Morris when he wrote his story under that title, which William Fox has produced for the screen. The picture is now showing at the Yost theater.

Percy Marmont, whose performance in "If Winter Comes" has endeared him to the public, plays the role of the wealthy tempter in this new offering and Betty Bonton, dark-eyed, petite, is the girl who discovered that "You Can't Get Away With It."

Others in the cast are Malcolm McGregor, Barbara Tennant, Grace Morse, Clarissa Selwyn and Charles Cruz.

SERVICE POEM ON SCREEN AT WALKER'S

"A bunch of the boys were whooping it up in the Malamute saloon; the kid that handles the music box was hitting a jag-time tune; back of the bar, in a solo game, sat dangerous Dan McGrew, and watching his luck was his light-o'-love, the Lady that's known as Lou." Then out of the night, on vengeance bent, came the man of Lou's past! This scene is one of the most thrilling in "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," the current attraction at Walker's theater.

SACRAMENTO RIVER WATER LEVEL LOW

SACRAMENTO, June 10.—Water in the Sacramento river will be lower this year than ever before, according to Edward Hyatt, Jr., acting chief of the state department of water rights, who has just returned from a trip to Modoc and Lassen counties.

The big river today is as low as has ever been recorded, said Hyatt, and springs in the Pit river drainage basin which are the main source of the Sacramento river are drying up, which never before have been known to cease flowing. The volume of water in the river today is estimated at 3320 cubic feet per second at Red Bluff, while in May, 1920, the year most frequently compared with the present for lack of rainfall, the indicator showed at Red Bluff 6400 cubic feet per second.

Hyatt advises irrigators throughout the state to make as much use of the water as possible early in the season before the full effects of the shortage are apparent.

George G. Radcliffe, chairman of the state board of control, speaking today before the forty-seventh annual convention of the grand parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden West on behalf of Governor Richardson, warned his audience that California is confronted with "one of the greatest shortages of water in the history of the state."

T. J. Brown was here from Long Beach yesterday on business.

Mrs. C. S. Murdy and Mrs. Beatrice Knapp were in Huntington Beach Saturday.

Mrs. H. C. Curtis and son Glen and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mansperger enjoyed Sunday at Orange County Park.

Mrs. Alice Hare and Mrs. George Wright of Hollywood and Mrs. Charles Trenary of Bolina are guests over the week-end. On Sunday, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Hare motored to Balboa.

The date of the annual picnic for the Oddfellows, which usually occurs in April has been set for June 28th. It was postponed on account of the foot and mouth disease. Mr. and Mrs. William Settle, S. Darline and E. A. Thomas, met in Pomona Sunday at the Genessa park, at which place the picnic will be held, with other Oddfellows to arrange and plan the affair.

W. H. Rose has been transferred to an oil field just starting up near Santa Monica.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Edwards enjoyed the fishing at Seal Beach Sunday.

A. E. Anton is enjoying the sights in San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hays and son Craig, motored to Long Beach Saturday evening where they dined with Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Hays and attended the theater afterwards.

Boy Rescues Big Brother in Lake

SEATTLE, June 10.—While 1000 persons helplessly looked on from adjacent shores, Walter M. Pode, 32, was rescued from the hull of his capized sail boat in Lake Washington.

The elder Pode was sailing a canoe and was tacking half way between the shores of the lake when the boom snapped off and snagged on the deck of the tiny vessel.

Hardly commanding a row boat moored at the shore, Sven Pode rowed the 200 yards to the capized vessel and pulled his brother over the gunwales.

Heiress-Hunting Noblemen Wear White Camelias

PARIS, June 10.—"Look for the white camelia" will be the future slogan of the title hunting American heiresses, following the appearance on the St. Cloud race track this afternoon of a number of young and middle-aged noblemen or younger sons all wearing camelias.

Asked to explain the idea, Count Pierre de Garriac said:

"We are all men whose families are bounding them to marry. We are looking for wives. The job is really too fatiguing so we formed a club with the camelia for an emblem which signifies that we are on the market."

Count de Garriac denied that the club was specifically created for the purpose of attracting American heiresses, but he admitted:

"American girls are not barred providing they have enough money to support a title."

Man Finds Booze After Car Is Hit

Deputy sheriffs today were investigating an automobile collision which occurred yesterday at West 5th street and the city limits. Two bottles of whisky were said to have been picked up from the wreckage of one of the cars which was estimated to have been speeding 50 to 60 miles an hour.

The speeding car was said to be owned by T. Alexander, whose address was not reported at the sheriff's office here. The other automobile was driven by Elias Seibila, Garden Grove rancher, who reported finding the liquor.

CALL HEARING ON ELECTRIC SHORTAGE

To consider the question of the institution by the railroad commission of an investigation into the operation of electric utilities during the present emergency resulting from abnormally low precipitation, it was made public here today, a public hearing has been ordered by the commission, to be held before Commissioner Irving Martin in Los Angeles, June 18, at 10 a. m., in the office of the commission, eighth floor, Pacific Finance building.

Notice of this hearing has been forwarded by the commission to the San Joaquin Light and Power corporation, Fresno; Southern California Edison company, Los Angeles; Los Angeles Gas and Electric corporation; Southern Sierras Power company, Riverside; San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric company; Ontario Power company, and the cities of Tehachapi, Burbank, Glendale, Pasadena, Azusa, Colton, Los Angeles, Anaheim and Long Beach.

Some Have Surplus

A commission follows: Of these companies the Midland Counties Public Service corporation, the Ontario Power company and the Ojai Power company purchase their main supply of power from the San Joaquin Light & Power corporation, or Southern California Edison company, and are included in the proceeding because any possible shortage in their wholesale supply of energy will necessarily affect their consumers.

The Los Angeles Gas and Electric corporation and San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric company generate electricity entirely in steam plants, but are included in the proceeding because power produced in their steam plants is available to the other companies through the interconnected systems.

Throughout the state as a whole the past winter has been one of the driest shown in records extending back in some cases for fifty years. Such snow as fell in the mountains came late in the spring and the indications are that virtually all of it has already melted.

Output in Gain

The maximum flow reached by the mountain streams as a result of the melting of this snow has been far below normal and the water is already falling rapidly. These conditions will, of course, result in an output of hydro-electric power far below normal. This fact, coupled with the rapidly increasing demand for power throughout Southern California, partly as a result of the growth of the territory and partly as a result of the dry year, brings the companies face to face with a serious situation. During the first months of the year the amount of electricity sold has been from 18 to 37 per cent in excess of corresponding months of the previous year.

The most serious Southern California Edison company, which has been confronted with the largest increase in demand due to the growth of Los Angeles and surrounding territory. This company has been making contracts for the purchase of all available surplus power and is installing additional steam plant capacity as rapidly as possible.

Shortage is Crux

By the operation of steam plants at maximum capacity, the San Joaquin Light and Power corporation and Southern Sierras Power company will be able to generate more power than will be required by their own consumers and this surplus will be made available on the Edison system. In addition the Edison company will receive steam power from the Los Angeles Gas and Electric corporation and San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric company, and has made arrangements for the operation of a number of privately owned steam plants in sugar factories and other industrial establishments.

The question as to whether there will be an actual shortage is still somewhat doubtful, although present indications are that some shortage can hardly be avoided. Unless fall rains are later and lighter than usual the amount of this shortage will not exceed a few per cent for the remainder of the year.

The purpose of the commission's investigation is to enable it to require the most efficient distribution of the power available and to require that any curtailment that may be necessary be spread as fairly as possible.

Dr. Stork Finds Monkey Patient At Seattle Zoo

SEATTLE, June 10.—Once more Doctor Stork has visited the monkey house at the Woodland park zoo. It is the second time this spring, and monkey tongues are chattering.

Doctor Stork's first call presaged the arrival of Dude, infant son of Jennie, the beautiful Chinese rhesus. The father was loudly proclaimed to be none other than Boob McNutt.

When the kidneys are in need of a good flushing take POLEY PILLS, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys. They promptly and effectively flush the kidneys, increase their activity and bring pleasant relief. Landon Taylor, Dorchester, Iowa, writes: "I can truthfully say that POLEY PILLS are the best I ever used. I had lots of trouble with my kidneys and I couldn't lift anything my back was so weak. Every morning I was dizzy, could hardly walk, but now I feel fine." Sold everywhere.—adv.

Dog Aristocrat Gets Nose from Mere Hound

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 10.—Bob, a particularly well-bred Air-dale dog, owned by Tom Brown of Golden, B. C., has learned that beauty is more than skin deep. Bob was in an encounter with a bulldog recently and lost the end of his aristocratic nose.

His owner feared that the unauthorized amputation would impair the value of his canine friend, so securing an ordinary Air-dale without pedigree, he proceeded to the dog hospital.

The mongrel was given sufficient anesthetic to put him into the canine heaven and Bob woke up with a new nose.

FRENCH STEEL TRUST REIGN OVER, CLAIM

NEW YORK, June 10.—The French industrial millionaires, whose commercial imperialism has held European peace in check, have reached the end of their reign. They will have to pay the bill for the Ruhr fiasco when the new French bourgeois bloc comes into power next month. The French steel trust no longer will dictate France's destinies. M. Poincare, repudiated at the polls, will be able to resume his former position as legal adviser to the steel trust; but he will be unable to control the chamber of deputies as well.

The so-called radical Socialists, who will hold the real power in the new chamber are neither radicals nor socialists in the American meaning of the words. They accept some socialist and some radical doctrine; but they are white collar class—the class that has been hit most by the aftermath of the war in all countries of the world.

To Help Middle Class

They favor extricating the middle class from being ground between the exorbitant demands of both labor and capital. They will try to run the French government for the purpose of restoring an even distribution of prosperity among all classes, and not counting it to those classes that have organized to squeeze the unorganized. The radical Socialists favor a capitalization tax. They wish especially to levy taxation on the property of the wealthy who have grown enormously wealthier since the war because of the industrial imperialism of the French government.

When Poincare's government became a losing gamble for France the ministry slapped a general increase of 20 per cent on all taxes. By this means everybody had to pay the bill for the advantages the French steel trust alone was securing by the Ruhr adventure. The radical Socialists will bring an end to this way of running the government.

Financiers and industrial magnates in France alike are greatly alarmed at the threat that they will have to pay out some of the gains they have made during the peace muddle. The capitalistic class intends to do everything possible to discredit the radical Socialists and to bring about a legislative deadlock.

Drive Money Abroad

Fall of the franc is inevitable under these circumstances, for a time. The threat of the capital levy, even though the radical Socialists aver an intention to postpone its enforcement, is certain to cause many Frenchmen to try to hide their wealth abroad, where it cannot be taxed. Government regulation to prevent the flight of the franc can accomplish much; but international finance is a highly skilled and secretive art, and it is impossible for any government to seal all possible exits.

In international affairs the radical Socialists will refuse to use the French army as the pawns of the industrialists. The effort to win the Ruhr in order to make French multimillionaires will be stopped.

In what manner France will withdraw from the Ruhr is a matter of detail. It is always necessary to have some policies, even consistency in foreign change. But there will be no difficulty in finding adequate reasons for ending in proper form the exploitation of the Ruhr. When that is done France and Germany can then begin to discuss a permanent settlement of reparations on a common sense basis to benefit others beside French trust magnates.

WORKING GIRLS TO GET SCHOLARSHIPS

MADISON, Wis., June 10.—Two girls from a shoe factory, one from a cafeteria, two office workers, a clerk and two girls of domestic service will be given a term this year in the Wisconsin summer school, without cost to themselves.

The opportunity is due to the work of a small group of young women undergraduates at the University of Wisconsin. They raised the money to provide scholarships for the eight girls, including all tuition and expenses. Living quarters for these girls have been set aside at Barnard Hall, the finest dormitory the university boasts, overlooking the lake. One of the regular students will be detailed to tutor, instruct and make each of the visitors feel at home on the campus.

But the college girls will go further. So that these girls from offices and factories will not lose their jobs while at school, their employers have been interviewed and their consent secured to have volunteers among the college girls take over the workers' jobs for the six weeks' term.

CUTTING JUMPS TEXAS LEAGUE AGGREGATION

Returns Here After "Wild" Road Trip In Truck; Has Praise For Tyrrell

Ed Cutting, Santa Ana baseball player who went to Mobile, Ala., last February with the St. Louis Browns, was back in town today after a rather harrowing experience in the East Texas league, a class D organization to which he was recently "loaned" by the American league club.

Cutting frankly admits he "jumped" the Paris club of the East Texas league and that his professional baseball playing days were completed unless Manager George Sisler sends him his unconditional release. Cutting said he had the verbal promise of the Paris, Texas manager that he would be made a free agent by that club.

"I stood conditions at Paris as long as I could but when we made an all night road trip in a truck, leaving one city at night and arriving in the next at 6 o'clock in the morning, I told them I was through," Cutting said. "I wired Sisler from Dallas asking for my outright release but I haven't heard from him yet."

The local first baseman said he hoped to play with one of the local semi-professional teams next Sunday before leaving for New York where he will enter business.

"Tuffy" Tyrrell is getting by a million," Cutting said. "He is popular with all of the fellows and as he is doing at Arkansas City he's a cinch to be recalled by St. Louis at the end of the season."

Tyrrell impressed all of the old timers down at Mobile. Some of them said he was the most natural hitter that had come up for a try-out in several years.

LOS ANGELES, June 10.—Among other things the Vernon fight card for tonight will save a line on just how good Babe Herman, Sacramento featherweight, has become. The flashy youngster waded into Willie O'Brien last week and emerged with a clear-cut win.

He is facing Bert Lamar, rugged mixer, in tonight's feature. George Manley's reappearance here finds him racketed with Eddie McGovern. Manley, who came to the coast after a so-so career in Denver, earned the reputation here of being an in-and-out. McGovern is expected to furnish real opposition. They are heavyweights.

CANADA SPARSELY POPULATED, CLAIM

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 10.—Canada, with a land area larger than Europe, has a population distribution of 2 1/2 persons per square mile, compared with an average of 12 per square mile in the old world, according to Robert J. C. Stead, director of publicity for the dominion department of immigration, in an address here before the Rotary club.

"The population of Belgium is 654 per square mile," said Mr. Stead, "and of the Netherlands 543, of the United Kingdom 288, of the United States 35, Germany, occupying the same general latitudes as Canada, and with no greater proportionate resources, 326 persons to each square mile of territory."

"Canada needs people to settle its vast areas and help develop its unexploited resources. But immigrants must come to us with a grant bill of health and a certificate of good character. We prefer to remain a 2 1/2 people to the square mile and take our chances with the future rather than to abandon our selective policy of immigration."

"Canada is the second greatest producer of wheat and oats and the world's greatest exporter of wheat. Yet for its 3,000,000 acres of agricultural land, less than one-

GROGGY AND HURT, GEORGES SEEKS SHELTER OF ROPES IN RECENT BOUT WITH GIBBONS

Georges Carpentier, idol of France, has gone down to defeat again and Tommy Gibbons proved himself a contender for Jack Dempsey's crown. Carpentier literally ran away from Gibbons' punches all during the fight. Here he is in his last retreat. Groggy and scarcely able to stand he is seeking the shelter of the ropes in an effort to keep his feet as the final round nears its close.

SPORTS of all SORTS

Faith in his own judgment and the support of his wealthy boss has enabled Bill Killifer to build up the Chicago Cubs into one of the most promising clubs in the National League.

Owned by William Wrigley, the multimillionaire gum man, the Cubs have more money behind them than any other club in the major leagues, but Killifer has refused consistently to call upon his employer for anything more than the payroll.

It was reported last winter that the Cubs had offered Rogers Hornsby, but it was reported later that if the offer had been made it was not with serious intention. Soon after he had taken the management of the team, Killifer told his friends that he would not try to buy a pennant-winning club and that he intended to build up a young team that would last for a long time.

The Cub manager has justified the confidence that his employer placed in him, and he has vindicated himself by bringing out this year a team that has been one of the big surprises of the year.

John McGraw said the Cubs were the best team he had seen this season and he said they looked more promising than the Reds or the Pirates.

McGraw's name is always associated with any conversation about buying pennants, as he is held as the chief offender in baseball, if there is any offense in buying star players.

The Giant manager, however, is taking a hand now at developing his own players. Practically all of the major league club owners are prosperous now, and they are not inclined to sell players. This was shown conclusively by the frequency with which the owners of the St. Louis Cardinals have laughed off offers of a small fortune for fifth is under cultivation. The dominion has a forest area estimated at 600,000,000 acres. Canada's minimum production exceeds $180,000,000 a year. One-seventh of the world's coal supply is located in Alberta. Canada's available water power is estimated at 18,000 horsepower.

A-B BOWLING STARS WIN BROADWAYS

Fourth Street Five Off to Flying Start In Five Match Engagement

The A. and B. All-Stars today were off to a galloping start in their five-match home and home series with the Broadway Specials following their 4 to 2 victory in the opener last night at the West Fourth street alleys.

In addition to capturing their total 2506 to 2453, the A. and B. trio glommed games one, three and four. The Broadway three were victorious in games two and five.

Harry Gaspar, boss of the Broadway squad, turned in a remarkably well balanced card but his example was not followed by his partners. Gaspar closed his work with a 231, giving him an average for the five tilts of 190 plus.

The scores follow:

Girl Water Champ Plunges In Billowy Sea of Matrimony

MARGARET WOODBRIDGE
DETROIT, June 10.—Margaret Woodbridge, Olympic and national swimming champion, is about to take the plunge into the billowy sea of matrimony.

The internationally famous possessor of many swimming records has just formally announced her engagement to marry William C. Presley of Bay City in Detroit the latter part of June.

The youths whose fate was sealed by Judge Charles Crall were Ed Montijo, Tom Bailey and Louis Perry. Date of their execution will be fixed later.

An appeal of the case was announced by Public Defender Aggeler.

Sentence of life imprisonment of Mrs. Margaret Willis, "trunk murderer," was postponed until Thursday to allow the defense time to prepare appeal for a new trial. Additional evidence claimed to have been discovered will form the basis of the appeal, Attorney S. S. Hahn, counsel for the "woman of steel," stated.

MADDEN STICKS 15 ROUNDS IN WILLS BOUT

Colored Challenger Given Decision But Rickard
Is Disappointed

NEW YORK, June 10.—Tex Rickard said today he would take a couple of days to decide whether to put on a Harry Wills-Luis Girpo bout, as originally intended. The promoter was greatly disappointed at Wills' showing in his bout here last night with Bartley Madden. He said the match would not draw as large a gate as he had hoped and he doubted if Girpo would lower his demands.

Wills gained the decision in 15 rounds over Madden.

Wills was far in the lead in the first ten rounds. The colored battler was hitting Madden with everything, but the latter kept his feet throughout.

Snaps Out Of It
In the tenth round Madden seemed to snap out of it and carried the fight to Wills, winning his first round.

Wills resumed the offensive in the twelfth and returned to his attack on his adversary's midsection. This he still found invulnerable and he shortly changed his tactics and crashed blow after blow to Madden's head, but without doing more than rocking the veteran from side to side. Always Bart was back for more and in the closing stages eluded several full swings that were intended to be haymakers.

Clumsy Affair
It was a clumsy affair with a great deal of clinching slowing up the action. Wills had much the better of the infighting and landed probably three or four blows to Madden's one but could not bring the tough Irishman down.

The new Orleans black man had a twenty-eight-pound advantage in weight, and the edge, too, in height and reach, and his failure to stop Madden, who proved such a target for all the wallop in his package, was a disappointment.

THREE TO HANG FOR PATROLMAN'S DEATH

LOS ANGELES, June 10.—Three men, all under 21 years of age, were yesterday sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Policeman Glenn C. Bond during an attempted bank robbery.

The youths whose fate was sealed by Judge Charles Crall were Ed Montijo, Tom Bailey and Louis Perry. Date of their execution will be fixed later.

An appeal of the case was announced by Public Defender Aggeler.

Sentence of life imprisonment of Mrs. Margaret Willis, "trunk murderer," was postponed until Thursday to allow the defense time to prepare appeal for a new trial. Additional evidence claimed to have been discovered will form the basis of the appeal, Attorney S. S. Hahn, counsel for the "woman of steel," stated.

Legion Increases Boy Scout Work

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—Considerable increased efforts on the part of the American Legion in California in regard to work among the Boy Scouts has been noticed in the past few months, according to department officials.

Hundreds of troops of Scouts have been adopted by the various Legion posts in carrying out the program of the Legion—"Every Post a Scout Troop." In speaking of this work, Morgan Keaton, department adjutant of the organization, stated today that the Boy Scouts offered the greatest tool for carrying forth the ideals and principles of the American Legion after the Legion members have passed on to the great beyond. In other words, he says, the Boy Scouts will perpetuate the ideals and principles for which the American Legion stands.

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

Ready To Be Convinced

BY MARTIN

PINK ORGAN

Putting the letters on the shown above, two words were intended, but the painter mixed up the letters, with the surprising result. Possibly he was color blind and thought mahogany was pink. However, that has nothing to do with the puzzle; the problem is to rearrange the letters and form the two words which should naturally appear on a sign of the type illustrated.

Yesterday's answer:
The three boys and, respectively, 50, 30 and 10 apples. The first boy began by asking three cents apiece for apples. The other boys followed his example. But the first boy only sold one apple, the second boy two, and the third boy three.

Realizing that the price was too high, the first boy decided to get rid of his large stock as quickly as possible, so he disposed of his apples at seven for a cent. The other boys were forced to do likewise. The result was as follows:
First boy—1 apple at 3 cents; 49 apples at 7 for 1 cent. Total receipts, 10 cents.
Second boy—2 apples at 3 cents; 28 apples at 7 for 1 cent. Total receipts, 10 cents.
Third boy—3 apples at 3 cents each; 7 at 7 for 1 cent. Total receipts, 10 cents.

EVENING SALUTATION

The night is thine,—
The long, dark winter's night,
Hushing our birds to sleep, our flowers concealing,
But, by its hosts of glowing stars, revealing
Through the deep sky, Thy glory and Thy might;
The night, O Lord, is Thine.

FLIRTING WITH SEAL BEACH

Long Beach is again talking about annexing a large area. Incidentally it is casting its eyes upon Seal Beach. The suggestion is made that the fact that Seal Beach is Orange county prevents annexation. This suggestion may have back of it the hope of Long Beach promoters that Seal Beach will be taken out of Orange county. We were of the opinion that Seal Beach is doing very well, thank you, as it is. It is a growing city and seems quite able to take care of itself.

Concerning Long Beach's expectations for future annexations, the Long Beach Press has the following:

Seal Beach and Long Beach are one in neighborhood spirit, if not as a municipal entity. A county line, imaginary in all other respects, alone stands between the two cities. But for that, Seal Beach and Long Beach would consolidate, just as surely as Alamitos Bay and Naples joined with their big brother to form the greater community.

Whether or not a county line is immovable, the friendly feeling that exists between Long Beach and Seal Beach will grow in strength and in productivity. Development in Seal Beach will be beneficial to Long Beach; and the improvements Long Beach is making in and around Alamitos Bay will make life in Seal Beach more delightful.

Bellflower citizens are signing a petition asking for annexation to Long Beach. Other residents of that nearby town are proposing to incorporate as an independent sixth class city. Whatever the immediate outcome, the idea of consolidation for the building of a great city at the Twin Harbors has taken root, and will find expression, sooner or later, in the merging of at least 100 square miles of territory under one local government.

Compton logically can join this movement, which may in time reach northeastward even to Downey.

Anyone who would have predicted two years ago that Long Beach boundaries in 1924 would reach to Artesia Boulevard on the north and to Los Angeles' Main Street extension on the west would have been termed a dreamer. A further extension to include the cities here mentioned would not be accepted with little surprise.

May not Long Beach expect to hear, next, from Compton?

SOME TAX RELIEF

The expiring Congress will be forgiven much, because it lowered taxes. Its revenue law may be unscientific in principle and wrong in many details, but the average taxpayer is not given to close analysis. The law does grant relief to millions of citizens, in their income tax payments—moderate relief this year, in a general cut of 25 per cent, and the prospect of a cut of one-half or more in next year's payments.

It would have been better, well informed persons may admit, if Congress had made a greater reduction on the income taxes on big fortunes, and coupled it with legislation to stop the issuance of tax-exempt securities. That might have brought under taxation again a large volume of wealth now escaping the income tax, and poured into productive enterprise again hundreds of millions now buried in public bonds and encouraging public extravagance. Such action is so logical, according to economists, that it must come sooner or later.

In the meantime, there is a noticeable perking up of business because of the general cheerfulness caused by relieving the small tax burdens of the many. That effect may be more psychological than scientific, but it is an economic fact just the same.

A FRIEND IN FRANCE

It is pleasant to read the words of Edouard Herriot, new leader of the French government, committing him flatly to support of the Dawes report, friendly co-operation with America and a balanced budget.

"In all circumstances," he says, "I have rendered homage to the magnificent disinterested aid which the United States extended to France during the war. Recently as a member of the finance commission I have been able to appreciate the aid the United States brought us in bolstering up our national currency."

"If I take direction of affairs I shall ask the American democracy to have the same confidence in me as I have in it. It can be assured in any case that I will practice a sane financial policy founded on rigorous balancing of the budget. I shall furthermore practice a policy of peace on the basis of the experts' report, which I approve completely and without mental reservations."

This sounds sincere. It is what America wants, and presumably what France wants. It is all the more agreeable to American ears after the sword-rattling and jingo oratory of Premier Poincare and his indifference to American advice and American interests. Herriot talks like a man whom America can work with for mutual benefit, European prosperity and international peace.

MORE SCHOOL? TO BE SURE

In many a home during the next few weeks the question of more schooling for the older children will come up for discussion.

Shall the boy ready for college become so interested in his summer job that he thinks after all he had better stick to business and let college go? Shall the boy or girl half way through high school and becoming restive stop and go to work, or shall he by changing his course a bit get ready for college or for mechanical work of the higher sort? Shall the eighth grader be allowed to decide that he is educated enough, and never again look inside of a school room, or advance himself intellectually in any way beyond the necessary requirements of the nearest job?

We asked a wise old person what he thought about all this, the arguments for and against more school. This was his answer, and it bears consideration:

"There are two things which I have lived to hear many a man and woman regret not doing when young. Never have I heard man or woman regret doing them. One is getting a little more schooling while there was a chance; the other is buying a little piece of land."

Not every boy or girl should go through college;

not every one should buy a farm. But just getting one more year of school or music or acquiring the habit of reading good books while the mind is young and nimble is worth everything to the happiness of later life; and buying one good lot with the margin of the first salary establishes a foundation of credit and thrift for later comfort.

Intoxication on the Highways

Fresno Republican.

The different news reports from towns in central California yesterday deal with serious auto offenses. At Lemon Cove, Tulare county, a man arrested on complaint of driving a car while intoxicated, is permitted to plead guilty to a charge of reckless driving, pays a fine of $200 and loses his driver's license for six months. At Visalia, a Fresno county man from Reedley pleads not guilty to driving while under the influence of liquor, and will be tried on this felony charge next month.

Unfortunately, charges of this kind are treated at times under different impulses, none of which are fair to the public interest. Sometimes they are treated with reference to the enforcement of the prohibition laws, and the "right of a man," if there is any such thing, "to get drunk." And another is a weakness of certain prosecuting officers in the effort to prove that a man is actually intoxicated, when plainly in no condition to drive his car. This has caused the occasional tendency to refuse to prosecute on the felony charge unless liquor is actually found on the person of the driver, or in the car. And the third impulse is to refuse to prosecute or to convict, a man for a felony just because he happens to be drunk when driving. Some people disagree with the legislature in this matter. They do not think that a man should be a felon just because he gets drunk and drives an automobile.

None of these impulses conform to the law. And we believe that none of them conform to public interest. It may be debatable whether we should repeal the prohibition laws. It may be debatable whether it is a heinous crime to get drunk. It may be debatable whether state's prison is too severe a punishment for a man who drives while intoxicated.

But the most important thing for the public is that court action, especially court verdicts, shall express the truth.

It is more important, we believe, in the long run, for the court to tell the truth, in their decisions, than even for them to impose adequate punishment.

So, if there is occasion for the arrest of a man on a charge, the final result should tell the facts about that charge.

It is not good public policy, either for society or the individual, to have men arrested on charges of driving automobiles while intoxicated, and then have them punished on charges of reckless driving. If a man is accused of driving while intoxicated, he should be convicted of that charge, or proved innocent of that charge by a verdict of "not guilty."

In the long run, officers of the law had better run the risk of having their charges occasionally meet with failure, than to defer to a system that belies their veracity.

And for the public, it is better that a fight be made at once on the question of intoxication while driving. The thing should be worked out to a legislative and judicial conclusion. It should be treated quite aside from the facts of prohibition laws.

It is dangerous to have men on the highway, at the wheels of automobiles, who are intoxicated. It is contrary to public welfare. It should be prevented by all the moral and statutory methods possible. Whether it is to be punished by jail or prison or fine or deprivation of certain civic rights, such as that of driving, is a detail. The public's interests require that the offenses be reduced to a minimum, if not actually stopped.

It is quite possible that in the Lemon Cove case the prosecuting officer and the court used their best discretion in accepting the lesser plea and imposing a fine of $200 with suspension of license.

But in the long run clarity of charge and of decision with accurate knowledge of the facts will be the best development of the public interests.

Example of Los Angeles

Fresno Republican.

The people of Los Angeles have always had a far sighted policy of "boosting," but at the same time spending of themselves to prepare a solid foundation for the results of boosting. Recently they voted many millions of bonds for the improvement of the city as a municipal institution, for flood prevention, for construction of various civic enterprises. They did not wait to ask some one to come in and help them. They dipped their hands into their own pockets, for the promotion of their city as a community.

The approval by the people of Los Angeles yesterday of the offer of thirty-five millions in school bonds, is further proof of this determination of the largest city in California to stand on its own feet. They attract people from all over the United States. How? By having something that is worth sharing, not only in climate and an industrial opportunity, but in civic spirit.

And this last is not the least in importance.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

THE HEART.

I have been very much interested in the different methods now in vogue for examining the heart. For instance, the taking of the blood pressure during excitement, after a hurried walk, or again after the receiving of depressing news, can all so change the readings that they are not worth much in trying to ascertain the strength of the heart. Then the slight murmur that is so often found in growing boys and girls often alarms parents. It is of no significance whatever.

And then you naturally ask, what about real murmurs? What about a heart where the valve doesn't close quite properly, and thus the heart has to do pump twice, that extra blood that has flowed back through the small leak? As the United States and Canada were so far from the seat of activities during the war, medical officers were not allowed to take a chance on a heart with a murmur. Accordingly good rugged fellows, working every day in the week, many of them engaged in athletics, were rejected on account of a heart murmur.

What about the European nations? Well, some of them were hard put for men and had to send everybody who could carry a rifle; nevertheless, they soon saw that the heart has to do so your heart, under the same conditions. Now this should be of great comfort to you if you have been told that you have a heart murmur, and have perhaps been rejected not only for the army, but also for insurance.

It simply goes to show that if you keep your entire body in good physical condition, see that you get proper food and a reasonable amount of exercise, that you shouldn't really worry about your heart. Because if your body is in good shape, your heart, because it will be likewise in good shape, and muscular system will be likewise in good shape, although not under the control of the will—will likely be strong enough to take care of you all right.

You see, notwithstanding all our methods of examination, blood pressure appliances, stethoscope, and the cardiograph tracings of the heart beat, the great thing about the whole matter is just this. How do you feel? Do you get out of breath easily? Can you do as much work as the other fellow? I mean ordinary manual work without getting out of breath sooner than he does.

I believe you can see my point. This does not mean that you will play tennis, basket ball, or other strenuous games, but that you can get along and do all the ordinary things of life without being afraid of your heart.

What Is a June Day Without Speeches

A Dangerous Course

Jefferson City (Mo.) Capital-News

The theory of modern education based upon scientific training, minus moral instruction, minus religion, minus restraint, is dealt a terrible blow by the horrifying facts connected with the brutal murder of a 14-year-old boy by two decadent students of Chicago University. The great institution by the lakeside, has always prided itself upon its entire freedom from any form of educational development, except the purely scientific. Moralities, creeds, ethical duties and conceptions, all such have been studiously excluded. The student body might perform as it chose outside of the classroom—it being held no business of a modern university. Incidentally it may be remarked that the present instance is not the first to throw its sordid shadow across the career of this establishment, great as it is.

Somewhat it is true that humanity never learns except by experience. Our innate sense of superiority and native conceit impel the most rigid adherence to the false standards we often set up in our ignorance. Then only a drastic treatment in which the standard is demolished will suffice. It may be that this may be required to convince us that the education of the young men and women of the country that is lacking in moral teaching will bring chaos and disaster in the future.

It is all very well to say that the complexities of modern life require tolerance for the varying views of the patrons of the colleges and universities of today, and that the atheist and the agnostic have the right to insist that their progeny be trained after the manner of the thought of their parents. But it is a false doctrine that grows more dangerous as the years go by. If such so-called tolerance leads to the rise of a system that produces cynics, skeptics, atheists, and supercilious young fools without moral responsibility at 18 and 20, then we are trifling with the processes of Fate.

If we are a God-fearing nation, then the rearing of the young should be in the light of his countenance, with the inculcation of fundamental morals and duties. If we are pagans then we are doomed to go the way of all the other nations in history that forgot God.

Worth While Verse

DAYBREAK

A wind came up out of the sea,
And said, "O mists make room for me!"

It hailed the ships, and cried, "Sail on, Ye mariners, the night is gone!"

And hurried landward far away,
Crying, "Awake! it is the day!"

It is said unto the forest, "shout!
Hang all your leafy banners out!"

It touched the wood-bird's folded wing,
And said, "O bird, awake and sing!"

And o'er the farms, "O chanticler, Your clarion blow, the day is near!"

It whispered to the fields of corn,
"Bow down and hail the coming morn!"

It shouted through the belfry tower,
"Awake, O bell; proclaim the hour."

It crossed the churchyard with a sigh,
And said, "Not yet! in quiet lie."

—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

And pleasant scents the noses.

—N. P. Willis.

Love comes soon,
"June! June!"
The very sings
Sings and sings,
"June! June!"
A pretty tune!

—Richard Hovey.

In the wind of sunny June Thrives the red rose crop,
Every day fresh blossoms blow
While the first leaves drop.

—Christina Rossetti.

You find but common bloom and

Rose Defined

Webster, Worcester, and all the other dictionary makers, who are, as everybody knows, a prosaic set, wedded to the Gradgrindian principles of "Facts, sir, nothing but facts," may define the rose as a sweet scented flower, and let it go at that, but poets are not satisfied, and prefer to define the rose in fanciful terms. Jose Massfeld calls red roses "those blood drops from the burning heart of June."

Minna Irving says that "June with its crimson roses wears a ruby richly red," and also calls the rose "a roudon rare." She also tells a story of a king who sought "perfection" and who spurned all the gifts presented to him for the title of perfection:
"Then came an ancient gardener
And at the monarch's feet
Let fall an open rose of June, Deep crimson, dewy sweet,
'Ha this is perfect,' vowed the king,
And promptly stepping down

I was glad that day, the June was in me
With its multitude of nightingales
All singing in the dark.

—Elizabeth Barnett Browning.

O, June delicious month of June!
When winds and birds all sing in tune;
When in the meadows swarm the bees
And hum their drowsy melodies.

—Frank Dempster Sherman.

The June dusk, the rune dusk,
The dusk of silver sound;
Of winds from dreaming hilltops
And thrushes from the ground.

—J. Gertrude Menard.

Gentle June
Touched the cornsilk, fine and yellow; Kissed the apples, made them mellow;
Like a golden harvest moon—
Gentle June!

—Hattie Whitney.

Tell you what I like the best—
'Long about knee-deep in June,
'Bout the time strawberries melt
On the vine—some afternoon
Like to 'jes' git out and rest,
And not work at nuthin' else!

—James Whitcomb Riley.

And what is so rare as a day in June?
Then, if ever, come perfect days;
Then Heaven tries if the earth be in tune,
And over it softly her warm ear lays;

Whether we look or whether we listen,
We hear life murmur or see it glisten;
Every clod feels a stir or might,
An instinct within it that reaches and towers,

And, groping blindly above it for light,
Climbs to a soul in grass and flowers.

—James Russell Lowell.

He placed upon the gardener's brow
A silver laurel crown."

Ella Wheeler Wilcox speaks of "roses so beauteous they strike one dumb," and says, "A perfect rose is beauty's final word." Wordsworth says, "A red rose is a gladsome flower."

Bulwer Lytton calls the rose, "sweet emblem of discretion." Edmund Rostrand says, "Sweet, perfumed rose—a snare of nature." Many other poets call the rose by beautiful names, and looking into its honeyed heart, the most prosy of mortals is likely to feel poetical stirring and call the rose by some other pretty name, assured by Shakespeare that "the rose by any other name would smell as sweet."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 1—JOHNNY JUMP UP

Nancy and Nick, my dears, were Twins.

One night when the Twins were asleep, a fairy climbed up the vine to their window-sill.

He did a little dance, and he did a little prance and then he turned a somersault. Then he blew out his cheeks until they looked like apples, and whistled.

Nancy and Nick woke up like a shot and sat up in bed and rubbed their eyes.

"Did you hear something?" whispered Nancy.

"Yes, did you?" asked Nick.

Then suddenly he began to laugh, and Nancy, looking where he looked, began to laugh, too. And they laughed and laughed and laughed, both of them. And if you had been there, you'd have laughed, too.
